GLENFORD HILL CAMP PLANS

Plans are beginning to materialize for the Glenford Hill camp. The big program is to be carried out Labor Day, rain or shine. Roy Begg, the physical director, who has had a number of years' experience in playground work, has arranged games for all. This camp is one that interests every one regardless of age. The five months old boy and his grandmother are both happy and pleased with this delightful place. The boys and girls of various ages are well entertained with the numerous sports. A basketball standard has been erected and a place prepared for the indoor baseball game which is well adapted for small spaces out of doors. There will be competition in volley ball both morning and afternoon.

On Saturday some of the business men are planning to go up to the camp and put on the finishing touches to the volley ball court. A certain piece of land has been cleared of stumps and stones and this is to be covered with clay like material. Tom and Jerry, the sturdy oxen of Mr. Lennox, the postmaster of Glenford, are to be an attraction on Saturday. There will be considerable competition among the men as to who will do the driving. Most every man claims that he has spent a certain number of years on the farm and most of them are anxious to get that stick and lash in hand and say "Whoa, hish come here." After the court is put in shape there is a game scheduled for Saturday afternoon.

The public are cordially invited to visit this camp any time but especially on Labor Day. Those who have cars and are in a position to invite someone with them it is honed that they will do so. Arrangements are to be made for those who desire to go to the camp but have not the use of an automobile to go by bus. One can telephone to the Y. M. C. A. and reserve number of seats they desire.

TWO DIVORCES GRANTED.

The parties were married at Sydney, Australia, April 21, 1917, and resided in this city. The corespondent named in the papers was a man named Stuart. Frank W. Brooks appeared for the plaintiff; there was no appearance on the part of the defendant.

An interlocutory decree of divorce granted by Judge Hasbrouck in the case of Maude S. Torney against Howard J. Torney also was filed. River Brick $15 Per Thousand.

Hudson common brick in the wholesale market is being absorbed rapidly, with supply plentiful for the present rate of building construction. Raritan common brick is moving into New York at the same price as Hudson common brick, or $15 a thousand, wholesale, to which must be added, for delivered prices, the cost of handling, haulage and 10 per cent.

MOTOR WILL MAKE THE CIDER PURE

Rebecca will be a tolerably busy girl at the big county picnic Wednesday. This is made certain by the installation of a special motor at Forsyth Park to run her little cider mill. The Kingston Gas and Electric Company secured it from New York and the one generously offered by Gregory & Company will not be needed.

As stated above the new motor has special features. By an arrangement similar to that which advances the spark on an automobile it can be run at any speed from 100 to 1,000 A. P. M., which is the technical term for apples per minute and any undesirable "bugs" that may have found their way through the filters of the mill are shocked to death by current from the motor which electrifies the spout through which the sparkling finished product gushes.

Science, however, has been unable to educate the current to kill off the tiny "bug" which a little later gives the cider its own potent and enduring shocking powers.

The ability of some of the unorganized cider drinkers is expected to provoke some of the members of the cider sippers' union into violating union rules and showing what they really can do.

CONTESTS IN THE PRIMARIES

This afternoon at the board of elections office in the county building, John and Crown streets, there will be a drawing for positions on the primary ballots to be voted for on Primary Day, September 13, by candidates who are contesting for nomination. The contests are between Palmer Canfield, Jr., who desires the nomination for mayor on the Republican ticket, he opposing Walter P. Crane who was designated by the Republicans at their unofficial convention as its choice. In the Third ward there is a contest between Floyd Weiss and Charles H. Van Gaasbeck, Republicans, for supervisor, the vote at the ward caucus having been a tie and both filed petitions. In the Seventh ward there are Democratic contests for the nomination for supervisor by Anthony Bowers against Joseph Schuler and for alderman by Joseph H. Kelly against Nicholas A. Huber; in the Tenth ward by Josiah Doty, who is seeking the nomination for alderman on the Republican ticket, against Charles N. Buchholtz. Positions will also be drawn in contests for Republican county general committeemen in a district in Shandaken and four in the town of Wawarsing.

Today, August 30, is the last day for filling vacancies caused by declinations.

FORTY LIVES LOST AT SEA

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

San Francisco, Cal., Aug. 30.—Driftwood and broken spars are all that mark the spot where the freight ship Canadian Importer was last seen, according to reports today to the Marine Exchange from vessels that went to her rescue. Forty lives are believed to have been lost when the ship sunk 300 miles west of Eureka.

The Canadian Importer was discovered drifting helplessly last Thursday by the steamship Cordova. Captain Bissett of the disabled ship refused the tow offered by the Cordova, declaring his ship was "good for a week."

One boat load of the crew, including the second and third officers and nine seamen, put out in an open boat in an effort to reach the coast after the vessel became disabled on August 19. No trace of them has been found.

JOINT MEMORIAL FOR ZR-2 VICTIMS

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

London, Aug. 30.—Joint funeral services for the English and American victims of the ZR-2 disaster have been virtually abandoned it was learned today. It is considered likely, however, that a joint memorial service may be held in Westminster Abbey early next week.

Relatives of the English victims are naturally anxious for the speediest possible return of the bodies and this is given as the main reason for the abandonment of the original plan to hold a monster joint funeral service over all the recovered bodies. The royal air force was arranging today to give extraordinary military honors to the victims. Squads of airmen will escort each body to the victims' respective homes and attend the funerals.

British airmen also will escort the bodies of the American victims to Plymouth.

CAN'T BURY FLAGS.

Those Covering Dead Soldiers to Go to Families.

The attention of several undertakers in Poughkeepsie who have had charge of the burial of soldiers recently, has been called to the requests of the families to have an American flag buried with the body of the soldier. They wish it made known that according to a ruling made recently by Secretary of War John W. Weeks at Washington, the placing of the flag in the soldier's casket is not allowed.

Instead of burying the flag with the dead soldier, it is folded up and presented to the family. It seems that little publicity has been given to the matter, which has led to considerable explanation. It is believed that the reason for the ruling is that the American flag should not be allowed to touch the ground, and that burying it with the casket would be a presumed disrespect for the flag.

New York, Aug. 30.—Plans were under way today to aid the half million or more idle men in New York through the fall and winter, always the worst period for the out of work man. ARREST WOERNER AND ABRAHAMS

Whose Places of Business Were Raided by Police Saturday—Woerner Informed Neighbors Complain Of Him Beating Up His Mother.

Joseph Abrahams of No. 86 Chambers street, and William Woerner of No. 45 Murray street, whose places of business were raided by the police Saturday afternoon and a quantity of alleged booze seized, were arrested this morning and arraigned before Judge Schirick on a charge of possessing intoxicating liquors for beverage purposes. Both cases were adjourned to Friday morning. Bail in each case was fixed at $500 which was furnished. Abrahams said he had no attorney, but would obtain one, and Woerner retained Andrew J. Cook to look after his interests.

Woerner was summoned to the city hall this morning by Judge Schirick to answer to a complaint that had been lodged against him by a neighbor. This neighbor claimed that Saturday night Woerner accused him of being the man who had informed the police of his having liquor in his place, and called him a number of vile names.

Woerner denied it when questioned by Judge Schirick, who then informed Woerner that there were at least ten neighbors who had called the city hall on the telephone and complained that Woerner was in the habit of beating up his aged mother.

The neighbor who had summoned Woerner to the city hall spoke up and said that he was a witness of the beating up for while Woerner was applying vile names to him Mrs. Woerner came out and asked her son to desist. The son then ordered her in the house saying if she did not go in he would beat her face in, or words to that effect. She went in the house, and, according to the neighbor, Woerner followed her in and beat her up.

Judge Schirick informed Woerner that if there was crime he would not tolerate it was a son hitting his mother, and he warned Woerner to keep both hands and tongue off of his mother in the future, and to also leave the neighbors alone.

Woerner denied that he had hit his mother.

W. P. CRANE IS A CANDIDATE

The B. S. L., who has not been heard from in some time, has lately gotten busy and the latest effusion from his tongue is the rumor that Walter P. Crane, who was named as the Republican candidate for mayor at the unofficial Republican convention held at the Kingston Opera House some time ago, had declined It is hardly needless to say that the rumor is utterly false and without a single fact to bolster it up.

RONDOUT CREEK BRIDGE MAY BE OPEN BEFORE THANKSGIVING DAY

Builders Say Will Surely Be Open to Traffic by That Date—Concreting the Roadway to Begin September 15—Woman Welder Working High in the Air.

With the steel framework of the Rondout creek bridge about 70 per cent completed, and the riveting 25 per cent, Terry & Tench, bridge contractors, expect that the bridge will be open to traffic on Thanksgiving Day, if not a little before that time.

Michael Bebarford, resident engineer for Terry & Tench, said today that fixing the date of the bridge opening on Thanksgiving Day was a conservative one, and that if nothing unforeseen developed the bridge would be open to traffic even before that time.

The work of laying concrete on the bridge will be started on September 15 on the main span, according to present indications. The concrete will be mixed on the Esopus side of the creek and hoisted to the top of the tower and chuted down to about the middle of the bridge, where it willl be dumped into cars running both ways on the bridge. The concrete roadway will be laid to a depth of nine inches.

There will be a sidewalk on both sides of the roadway.

The outside man in charge of the construction work for the bridge builders is Superintendent Arthur Spooner.

Cracks had appeared in the bands that hold the big main cables together, and it was decided to have them welded together and the matter was taken up with the Weehawken Welding Company, and on Monday a young woman appeared at the office of Terry & Tench with a letter of introduction.

The woman was Mrs. Catherine Nelson who is an expert electrical welder. She started work on welding the cable bands this morning clad in a blue jumper and wearing a cap planted firmly on her head. The jumper showed that it had seen hard service on other jobs and she soon proved that she was a capable workman.

Naturally the fact that there was a woman employed on the bridge attracted considerable attention and the usual number of spectators was greatly augmented today by others drawn to the scene to see a woman at work.

Mrs. Nelson is from Denmark, but has been in this country a number of years. She was formerly a professional machinist, but about seven years ago she decided to take up electrical welding, and is probably the only woman in the country following the profession of welding at this time. She is a woman about 32 years old. Her husband died several years ago. She has one son.

Usually she travels from job to job in charge of a gang of helpers, but this job was not considered of enough importance to bring the helpers here, as she was able to do the work alone.

She will weld all of the bands on the big cables and it will take some time before the job is completed. At times she will be working at a height of over two hundred feet above the Rondout creek, but she has been accustomed to work at great heights, and that fact will not bother her in the least.

Among the bridge workers is C. Y. Yang who is with the New York state engineers in charge of the bridge construction. He is a scholarship student from China. He was one of three hundred students who took part in a competitive examination. His fellowship included a year's postgraduate course at Cornell University, and the privilege of being connected with a number of jobs that the state has underway. He came to Kingston from the Storm King highway project where he had acquired all the information he thought necessary and is now acquiring practical ideas as to the American methods of bridge building. After two years in this country he returns to China.

Modern common brick in the builders' market is being absorbed rapidly, with supply plentiful for the present rate of building construction. Kattan common brick is moving into New York at the same price as Hudson common brick, or $15 a thousand, wholesale, to which must be added the delivered prices, the cost of hauling, haulage and 10 per cent.

MOTOR WILL MAKE THE CIDER PURE

Rebecca will be a tolerably busy girl at the big county picnic Wednesday. This is made certain by the installation of a special motor at Forsyth Park to run her little cider mill. The Kingston Gas and Electric Company secured it from New York and the one generously offered by Gregory & Company will not be needed.

As stated above the new motor has special features. By an arrangement similar to that which advances the spark on an automobile it can be run at any speed from 100 to 1,000 A. P. M., which is the technical term for apples per minute and any undesirable "bugs" that may have found their way through the filters of the mill are shocked to death by current from the motor which electrifies the spout through which the sparkling finished product gushes.

Science, however, has been unable to educate the current to kill off the tiny "bug" which a little later gives the cider its own potent and enduring shocking powers.

The ability of some of the unorganized cider drinkers is expected to provoke some of the members of the cider sippers' union into violating union rules and showing what they really can do.

CONTESTS IN THE PRIMARIES

This afternoon at the board of elections office in the county building, John and Crown streets, there will be a drawing for positions on the primary ballots to be voted for on Primary Day, September 13, by candidates who are contesting for nomination. The contests are between Palmer Canfield, Jr., who desires the nomination for mayor on the Republican ticket, he opposing Walter P. Crane who was designated by the Republicans at their unofficial convention as its choice. In the Third ward there is a contest between Floyd Weiss and Charles H. Van Gaasbeck, Republicans, for supervisor, the vote at the ward caucus having been a tie and both filed petitions. In the Seventh ward there are Democratic contests for the nomination for supervisor by Anthony Bowers against Joseph Schuler and for alderman by Joseph H. Kelly against Nicholas A. Huber; in the Tenth ward by Josiah Doty, who is seeking the nomination for alderman on the Republican ticket, against Charles N. Buchholtz. Positions will also be drawn in contests for Republican county general committeemen in a district in Shandaken and four in the town of Wawarsing.

Declinations for nomination for supervisor has been filed by Carlton S. Preston, Democrat, in the First ward; by John J. Kelly, Democrat, for alderman in the Fifth ward, and by Michael Liebig, Republican, for alderman in the Eighth ward.

Today, August 30, is the last day for filling vacancies caused by declinations.

FORTY LIVES LOST AT SEA

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

San Francisco, Cal., Aug. 30.—Driftwood and broken spars are all that mark the spot where the freight ship Canadian Importer was last seen, according to reports today to the Marine Exchange from vessels that went to her rescue. Forty lives are believed to have been lost when the ship sunk 300 miles west of Eureka.

The Canadian Importer was discovered drifting helplessly last Thursday by the steamship Cordova. Captain Bissett of the disabled ship refused the tow offered by the Cordova, declaring his ship was "good for a week."

One boat load of the crew, including the second and third officers and nine seamen, put out in an open boat in an effort to reach the coast after the vessel became disabled on August 19. No trace of them has been found.

JOINT MEMORIAL FOR ZR-2 VICTIMS

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

London, Aug. 30.—Joint funeral services for the English and American victims of the ZR-2 disaster have been virtually abandoned it was learned today. It is considered likely, however, that a joint memorial service may be held in Westminster Abbey early next week.

Relatives of the English victims are naturally anxious for the speediest possible return of the bodies and this is given as the main reason for the abandonment of the original plan to hold a monster joint funeral service over all the recovered bodies. The royal air force was arranging today to give extraordinary military honors to the victims. Squads of airmen will escort each body to the victims' respective homes and attend the funerals.

British airmen also will escort the bodies of the American victims to Plymouth.

CAN'T BURY FLAGS.

Those Covering Dead Soldiers to Go to Families.

The attention of several undertakers in Poughkeepsie who have had charge of the burial of soldiers recently, has been called to the requests of the families to have an American flag buried with the body of the soldier. They wish it made known that according to a ruling made recently by Secretary of War John W. Weeks at Washington, the placing of the flag in the soldier's casket is not allowed.

Instead of burying the flag with the dead soldier, it is folded up and presented to the family. It seems that little publicity has been given to the matter, which has led to considerable explanation. It is believed that the reason for the ruling is that the American flag should not be allowed to touch the ground, and that burying it with the casket would be a presumed disrespect for the flag.

ARREST WOERNER AND ABRAHAMS

Whose Places of Business Were Raided by Police Saturday—Woerner Informed Neighbors Complain Of Him Beating Up His Mother.

Joseph Abrahams of No. 86 Chambers street, and William Woerner of No. 45 Murray street, whose places of business were raided by the police Saturday afternoon and a quantity of alleged booze seized, were arrested this morning and arraigned before Judge Schirick on a charge of possessing intoxicating liquors for beverage purposes. Both cases were adjourned to Friday morning. Bail in each case was fixed at $500 which was furnished. Abrahams said he had no attorney, but would obtain one, and Woerner retained Andrew J. Cook to look after his interests.

Woerner was summoned to the city hall this morning by Judge Schirick to answer to a complaint that had been lodged against him by a neighbor. This neighbor claimed that Saturday night Woerner accused him of being the man who had informed the police of his having liquor in his place, and called him a number of vile names.

Woerner denied it when questioned by Judge Schirick, who then informed Woerner that there were at least ten neighbors who had called the city hall on the telephone and complained that Woerner was in the habit of beating up his aged mother.

The neighbor who had summoned Woerner to the city hall spoke up and said that he was a witness of the beating up for while Woerner was applying vile names to him Mrs. Woerner came out and asked her son to desist. The son then ordered her in the house saying if she did not go in he would beat her face in, or words to that effect. She went in the house, and, according to the neighbor, Woerner followed her in and beat her up.

Judge Schirick informed Woerner that if there was crime he would not tolerate it was a son hitting his mother, and he warned Woerner to keep both hands and tongue off of his mother in the future, and to also leave the neighbors alone.

Woerner denied that he had hit his mother.

W. P. CRANE IS A CANDIDATE

The "B. S. L." who has not been heard from in some time, has lately gotten busy and the latest effusion from his tongue is the rumor that Walter P. Crane, who was named as the Republican candidate for mayor at the unofficial Republican convention held at the Kingston Opera House some time ago, had declined. It is hardly needless to say that the rumor is utterly false and without a single fact to bolster it up.

RONDOUT CREEK BRIDGE MAY BE OPEN BEFORE THANKSGIVING DAY

Builders Say Will Surely Be Open to Traffic by That Date—Concreting the Roadway to Begin September 15—Woman Welder Working High in the Air.

With the steel framework of the Rondout creek bridge about 70 per cent completed, and the riveting 25 per cent, Terry & Tench, bridge contractors, expect that the bridge will be open to traffic on Thanksgiving Day, if not a little before that time.

Michael Bebarford, resident engineer for Terry & Tench, said today that fixing the date of the bridge opening on Thanksgiving Day was a conservative one, and that if nothing unforeseen developed the bridge would be open to traffic even before that time.

The work of laying concrete on the bridge will be started on September 15 on the main span, according to present indications. The concrete will be mixed on the Esopus side of the creek and hoisted to the top of the tower and chuted down to about the middle of the bridge, where it will be dumped into cars running both ways on the bridge. The concrete roadway will be laid to a depth of nine inches.

There will be a sidewalk on both sides of the roadway.

The outside man in charge of the construction work for the bridge builders is Superintendent Arthur Spooner.

Cracks had appeared in the bands that hold the big main cables together, and it was decided to have them welded together and the matter was taken up with the Weehawken Welding Company, and on Monday a young woman appeared at the office of Terry & Tench with a letter of introduction.

The woman was Mrs. Catherine Nelson who is an expert electrical welder. She started work on welding the cable bands this morning clad in a blue jumper and wearing a cap planted firmly on her head. The jumper showed that it had seen hard service on other jobs and she soon proved that she was a capable workman.

Naturally the fact that there was a woman employed on the bridge attracted considerable attention and the usual number of spectators was greatly augmented today by others drawn to the scene to see a woman at work.

Mrs. Nelson is from Denmark, but has been in this country a number of years. She was formerly a professional machinist, but about seven years ago she decided to take up electrical welding, and is probably the only woman in the country following the profession of welding at this time. She is a woman about 32 years old. Her husband died several years ago. She has one son.

Usually she travels from job to job in charge of a gang of helpers, but this job was not considered of enough importance to bring the helpers here, as she was able to do the work alone.

She will weld all of the bands on the big cables and it will take some time before the job is completed. At times she will be working at a height of over two hundred feet above the Rondout creek, but she has been accustomed to work at great heights, and that fact will not bother her in the least.

Among the bridge workers is C. Y. Yang who is with the New York state engineers in charge of the bridge construction. He is a scholarship student from China. He was one of three hundred students who took part in a competitive examination. His fellowship included a year's postgraduate course at Cornell University, and the privilege of being connected with a number of jobs that the state has underway. He came to Kingston from the Storm King highway project where he had acquired all the information he thought necessary and is now acquiring practical ideas as to the American methods of bridge building. After two years in this country he returns to China.

BOX TURTLES.

"I love to eat berries," said Mr. Box Turtle.

"No better than I do," said Mr. Box Turtle's brother. "Or rather, I should say, that you don't love to eat berries any more than I love to eat them.

"I adore berries. And I love vegetables, too. Of course, I'll take a nibble at an insect once in awhile, too."

"Just as I will do," said Mr. Box Turtle.

"Of course," said Mr. Box Turtle's brother, "we are famous for the way we can protect ourselves by our box-like shells which we can close up. We can draw ourselves into our shells so that creatures cannot get at us.

"Some other turtles can do this too, but not so well as we can. They may be pulled at and tugged at and hurt quite badly.

"But when we withdraw ourselves into our shells, no one can get at us at all, no one at all.

"We're safe then.

"But if I go on eating so many berries, I may be so fat that I can't get into my shell. That would be a great pity. But then, eating is such a joy. And berries are so delicious.

"It doesn't matter how much we eat, for we are strong, and we live

a long time. If eating made us ill we wouldn't eat so much, for we are sensible.

"But eating a lot seems to agree with us. And though sometimes our eating manners aren't of the best, we don't care. Sometimes we get berry stains over ourselves.

"I can't say that our table manners aren't of the best, as we never eat at tables.

"So I simply say that our eating manners aren't of the best. That is what I say.

"We're so strong that we can get well of injuries and accidents which are quite bad ones. We're wonderfully strong. And we can breathe in our shells without getting the air for quite awhile, too.

"That is a great help, for when we are in our shells we want to be able to stand it comfortably. Of course, we're always in our shells, in a way, and quite a good-sized way at that.

"But when I speak of being in our shells, I mean when we get into our shells so that there is nothing of us such as a head or foot sticking out!

"That is what I mean."

"To be sure, I understand," said Mr. Box Turtle.

"The berry season is my favorite season of the year," said Mr. Box Turtle's brother.

"And mine, too," said Mr. Box Turtle.

"There is no other season like it," said Mr. Box Turtle's brother.

"No other season like it at all," said Mr. Box Turtle.

"And I don't really mind if I get so fat that I cannot close my box shell for awhile," said Mr. Box Turtle's brother. "I will take a chance that there will be no danger and will eat and eat and eat."

"I believe I will do the same," said Mr. Box Turtle. "And too, perhaps we won't grow so fat after all. We may grow fat, but not fat enough so that it would be hard to withdraw into our safety boxes."

"That's a pleasant thought," said Mr. Box Turtle's brother.

"But at any rate I must eat. I mustn't miss any of the berries that I can possibly manage to eat. If I did, I'd feel very badly about it.

"And the berries wouldn't care if I left them. What would be the use of leaving them? None at all that I can see.

"Surely I would be able to see if there was any use in leaving them. But I shall eat and eat and eat, and shall enjoy it, oh, so much."

"Let's begin right away," said Mr. Box Turtle. "We've been taking quite a rest from eating for a bit, now."

"A good suggestion," said Mr. Box Turtle's brother. "A most excellent suggestion, and one worthy of a Box Turtle, a bright, bright Box Turtle."

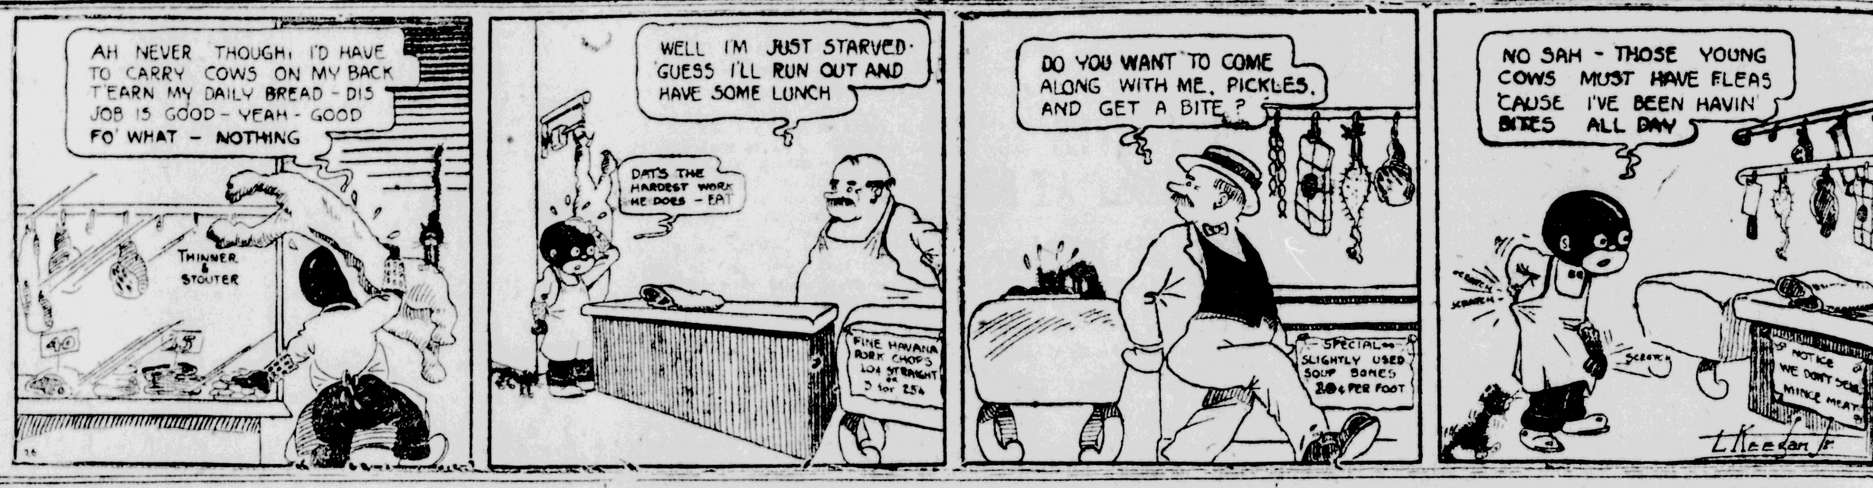
GAS BUGGIES—It wouldn't happen any other time



Stories of Great Scouts

By Elmo Scott Watson

©, Western Newspaper Union.

CUSTER'S CROW SCOUTS—

There were six of them, these warriors of the Crow or Absaroke nation, who rode with Custer on his last march down the Little Big Horn river in Montana that day in June, 1876. When the leader of the Seventh cavalry asked General Terry for his best Crow scouts in the camp on the Little Rosebud creek, Terry told him he could have Curley, "White Man Runs Him," Hairy Moccasin, "Goes Ahead," Yellow Face and White Swan. The Crows were glad to serve with the famous Indian fighter and they guided him until they located the hostile camp on the Little Big Horn.

When Custer divided his command to attack the village, Yellow Face and White Swan were sent with Major Reno and Custer kept "White Man Runs Him," Curly, "Goes Ahead" and Hairy Moccasin with him. Yellow Face was killed while fighting with Reno, and White Swan was badly wounded, but finally recovered and lived until 1905.

Today Curley is the only survivor of the Custer Crow scouts and, according to his story, he is the last man who saw his commander alive.

After crossing the ridge, Custer turned to "White Man Runs Him," Hairy Moccasin and "Goes Ahead," and said to them: "You have done your duty. You have led me to the enemy. My soldiers will do the fighting. You are to go now and save your lives." The scouts left him and made their way to the pack train under Capt. Tom McDougall.

When Curley returned from Reno's position, he was given the same order. He started and soon found himself in the midst of a hot fight. Finding a dead Sioux warrior, he took his horse, gun and blanket. Wrapping the blanket about his head to conceal his Crow scalplock from the Sioux, Curley succeeded in reaching a high butte. Looking back he saw that Custer had charged down upon the Indians and was surrounded. Curley says that he watched the battle until he saw Custer, who was the last man standing, fall and then he rode away.

The next morning the Crow scout appeared in General Terry's camp. He could not speak English and there was no interpreter. Curley took blades of grass, piled them all in a heap, and then, exclaiming "Pouf! Pouf!" in imitation of the sound of a gun, scattered them wide apart. By means of this he made the officer understand that Custer and all of his men had been killed. Like the famous Greek, Curley the Crow was a messenger of disaster and he brought the first news of this Thermopylae of America—Custer's last fight.

Bride Cake.

The origin of bride cake dates back to earliest times. In fact, it was an introduction of the Romans to the bridal banquet, with the view of counteracting the evils of indigestion which might arise from too free indulgence in the rich offerings of the marriage table. In his work, "De Re Rustica," Cato gives us the recipe for this medicate-farrago. It consisted of meal, aniseed, cummin, and sundry other aromatic ingredients, and it may be said, with much truth, that the spicy compound was better adapted to stave off indigestion than the modern cake to which it gave origin.

Delaware's Nicknames.

During the American Revolution, the commander of a brigade in Delaware was a veteran cock-fighter, who always bet on "the blue hen's chickens." Thence the name came to be applied to the members of his brigade, and finally to the state itself. Delaware has also been nicknamed "the Diamond state," as being small and precious.

Fruit Conserve.

—Take one pound of raisins, two pounds of tart cherries, the juice and rind of three oranges and four cupfuls of sugar. Chop the fruit, add the sugar and cook 20 minutes. Seal in small air-tight jars.

Preserved Pears.—Take six pounds of pared, cored and halved pears; add four pounds of sugar and two cupfuls of water, the juice of two lemons, the rind of one cut in strips and one ounce of ginger root. Drop the pears into cold water as soon as pared to keep them from discoloring. Boil together the sugar, lemon and ginger for half an hour. Drop the pears, a few at a time, into the syrup and cook 15 minutes. Drop into sterilized jars and pour over the thick syrup when all are cooked. Seal at once.

Spiced Apple Jelly.—Take one peck of tart apples, one-half cupful of mixed spices. Put the spices in a bag and cook the apples in equal parts of vinegar and water to cover, adding the spices. When the apples are soft, drain in a jelly bag. Boil the juice with equal quantities or a little less of heated sugar. When jellied, pour into glasses and cover with paraffin when cool.

Rose Pudding.—Pour one pint of raspberry juice into a saucepan with one cupful of sugar, add one-half cupful of corn starch, mixed with a little cold water, to the boiling fruit juice; when partly cooled add a teaspoonful of rose extract and one-half teaspoonful of almond extract. Fold in the stiffly beaten whites of two eggs. Dip a melon mold into cold water and sprinkle with chopped almonds. Fill the mold and sprinkle with almonds. Serve with whipped cream heaped around the unmolded cream.

The Jungle of Ceylon.

The jungle is as terrible as an army with banners. Sleeping in the little resthouse, when the night has fallen, it comes close up to you, creeping, leaning over you, calling, whispering, vibrating with secret life. A word more—only one—a movement, and you would know the meaning and be gathered into the heart of it; but always there is something fine, impalpable, between, and you catch but a breath of the whisper. Very wonderful is the jungle! In the moonlight of a small clearing I saw the huge bulk of three wild elephants feeding. They vanished like wraiths into the depths. The fireflies were hosting in the air like flitting diamonds. Stealthy life and movement were about me; the jungle, wideawake and aware, moving on its own occasion.—L. COURT SUSTAINS GEIGER JUDGMENT

Justice Rosch Says Jury's Findings Should Be Approved in Drowned Lands Law Suit in Wawarsing.

Supreme Court Justice Rosch of Liberty has handed down a decision in the case of Augustus Geiger against Dwight Divine, which was tried before him and a jury in the Supreme court in this city during March of this year.

The action was brought to recover $2,000 damages which Mr. Geiger claims he sustained by reason of the concrete dam built by Mr. Divine across the stream known as the Good Beer Kill, with the resultant flooding of forty acres of farm land in that section of the town of Wawarsing known as "The Cape."

The defendant claimed that his predecessors in title, among others one Tuttle and the Delaware & Hudson Canal Company, for more than twenty years prior to the grievance complained of by Mr. Geiger had erected and maintained a dam of the same or greater height than that which Mr. Divine erected in 1910, causing the waters of the Good Beer Kill to be set back to the same or greater extent on the Geiger lands.

The case was twice tried. On the first trial, Justice Rudd of Albany dismissed the complaint. An appeal was taken by Mr. Geiger to the appellate division of the supreme court which sent the case back for re-trial. The second trial was had before Justice Rosch and a jury. The second trial occupied about ten days. Many of the witnesses were old men of the neighborhood, whose testimony related to their recollection of previous dams along the Good Beer Kill and the condition of the land bordering the creek in the vicinity of "The Cape," part of which lands are known as the "Drowned Lands."

Justice Rosch submitted to the jury the question: "Did the dam maintained by Tuttle and the Delaware & Hudson Canal Company flood the plaintiff's premises substantially?" The jury answered "No."

In his memorandum just handed down, Justice Rosch says:

"The question submitted to the jury in this action was clearly a question of fact, to which under the evidence they could and did answer No. I believe that such finding by the jury should be approved.

"At the time the plaintiff Geiger purchased the DeYoung property, and from the time he went into possession thereof, the dam was open, and there was no overflowing of his property on account of the dam. The defendant under the proof cannot claim to hold the right of flowage by virtue of any grant. The conveyance to Geiger is without any exceptions or reservations insofar as the claim of defendant is concerned. I believe under the law he was protected by his conveyance (Real Property Law, Sec. 291.) There was no possession or occupation prior to the time of the reconstructed dam, and at the time of the acquisition of title by Geiger. A possession or occupancy under such circumstances should be 'actual, open and visible.' It could not be for a special or a temporary purpose. Neither could it be consistent with rights under license or lease.

"I have passed upon the proposed findings, and made decision directing a judgment in favor of plaintiff. The form of judgment can be settled upon notice."

Amos Van Etten of this city has represented Mr. Geiger throughout the litigation, with Cleon B. Murray of Ellenville, of counsel on the trial; Judge Clearwater has represented Mr. Divine in all proceedings, with John W. Eckert, of counsel during the trial.

OLD GILBOA.

Yes, 'twill soon be under water,
Not a vestige left, nor scrap,
And that once proud little hamlet
Will be stricken from the map.
Slow but sure the work's progressing,
Soon, yes at an early date
'Twill be said Gilboa's surrendered
To the iron hand of fate.

Motor trucks and huge steam shovels
With their gangs of husky men,
Sure are tearing things to pieces
On clay hill and in the glen.
And the village, it's deserted,
All the natives they have fled,
Some have gone to other quarters,
Some are sleeping with the dead.

All the Buckinghams, Mattices,
Strykers, Baldwins, Cronks and Weeds,
All the Frishies, Shalers, Southards,
Beckers, Mackeys, Potters, Reeds,
All the Warners, Hazzards, Haydocks,
Just a remnant now is left,
And our home town once so pretty
Of its beauty is bereft.

There are doctors, lawyers, teachers,
Preachers, printers, not a few
Unpretentious, conscientious,
Brave and noble, tried and true.
It's Old Home Week, I can see them,
And the tears that trickle down
As they gaze in breathless silence
At the devastated town.

In the cemetery yonder,
Where we laid our precious dead,
There to rest beneath the daisies,
In their little narrow bed,
Oh, the scene, it's sure appalling,
They are taking them away,
Hear the click of spade and shovel,
Excavating day by day.

As I turn and look about me,
Where the school house used to stand,
Where I went each week day morning,
Holding fast to brother's hand,
And the church where once I worshipped,
Yes, it's gone with all the rest,
Oh, the tears I can't suppress them,
Strange emotions fill my breast.

New York City needs the water,
So the noted experts say,
Ashokan is not sufficient,
With the million barrels a day,
Thirsty Yorkers must have water,
Hear me and I'll tell you why,
More than ever now they need it,
Since the country's gone bone dry.

Old Gilboa, you sure are going,
And the thought disturbs my sleep,
Buried neath the surging billows,
Swallow'd in the angry deep,
Dear old town, we'll not forget you,
Not as long as life shall last,
At thy bier we pray this tribute,
Thou hast had an honor'd past.

KINGSTON POST ELECTS OFFICERS

The annual meeting of Kingston Post, No. 150, American Legion, was held Monday evening at the rooms of the Post in the armory. Commander Thomas F. Coughlin presided. Reports of the various officers were received and officers for the ensuing year were elected. The following officers being elected:

A. R. Leighton, commander.
Dr. William J. Cranston, 1st vice-president.
Herman I. Dubois, 2nd vice president.
William G. Newkirk, 3rd vice-president.
Eugene B. Carey, adjutant.
James F. Loughran, treasurer.
Rev. Gregory Mabry, chaplain.
Robert G. Groves, insurance officer.
Bernard V. Roach, historian.

The following were named on the executive committee: Christian Melbert, George B. Hinds, Marion L. Lounsberry, R. F. Chidsey, Edward Leudtke, Lester Elmendorf, Albert Cook, Dr. A. M. Sutton, John Nolan, DuBois Gillette and Edward Geschwinder.

A committee was appointed to advise the people that Amendment No. 1, giving veterans preference in Civil Service would be voted on at the coming general election and to ask the support of the people.

The treasurer's report showed a balance of $124.53 in the general fund and $1,447.25 on deposit in a savings bank at interest in the "Building Fund." At the present time the Post has 496 members paid to date for the year 1920-1921.

Letters of thanks were received and read for the expression of sympathy of the post from the families of George F. Schirick and Mrs. Frederick William Galbraith, Jr., wife of the national commander who was killed this summer in an automobile accident while engaged in American Legion work.

A report was also read from the State Bonus Commission stating that an opinion on the constitutionality of the bonus was expected by September 1st, and that if the opinion is favorable, payment of the bonus can be expected by October 1st. The Court of Appeals will convene in Albany Wednesday at 10 o'clock and it is expected that an opinion will be handed down shortly after the court convenes.

The report of Eugene B. Carey, adjutant of the Post was received. The report contains a brief outline of the work which has been accomplished by the Post the past year: The report follows:

I feel honored to be called upon to present for your consideration the report of the adjutant of Kingston Post, No. 150, American Legion for the 1920-1921.

While our membership has fallen off this year, still the activity of the Post has increased with leaps and bounds over past years and the duties of my office have been more numerous than ever.

To the uninterested, unattentive member it might appear that Kingston Post plays no part in the civic, fraternal or charitable life of our city and county, but after a careful perusal of our work during the year, they and most others will be surprised.

Kingston Post has always been recognized by County, District and State headquarters of the American Legion and during the year past we were represented on the State Civil Service Committee and the State Athletic Committee.

During the year we had the pleasure of official visits by the District Commander, Mr. A. S. Callan, of Chatham, N. Y., Hugh W. Robertson of New York City, Assistant to the State Commander and by Miss Rose W. Sawyer of New York City, Executive Secretary and head of the Women's Auxiliary.

Kingston Post assisted in the formation of a Soldier's Home in Willow, Ulster County, and which is now completely equipped and highly appreciated by our convalescent comrades who are sent to recuperate in that section by the U. S. Public Health Service.

Kingston Post also assisted in the establishment of the Soldier's Home on Albany avenue, this city, and to which fund they donated the sum of $100.00 and paid into the fund another $14.00 for tickets sold by our members.

We held a grand Military and Naval Ball in the Armory on May 4th of this year which was a complete success and a compliment to our Post and which netted us about $800.

We secured proper and due respect for The Colors flying from the Central Post Office Building. Heretofore the flag was permitted to remain on the flag staff every hour of the day and night and now it is taaken down each evening at sun set and raised each morning.

We assisted in the observvation of Memorial Day by placing grave markers and poppies on the graves of the ex-service men and women in our city and the surrounding towns and villages not represented by a Legion Post. The total expense for this was $73.75.

We formed a Ladies' Auxiliary which now boasts of over 150 members.

We received The Colors and Post Panner from the City of Kingston through the efforts of Past Commander Dittus. President of the Board of alderman and the cost of same were $155.

We contracted with the J. B. Rogers Producing Company for a show or minstrel during Easter Week of 1922.

We purchased twelve additional grave markers and have now placed sixty-two (62) on the graves of our comrades who died in the service or after discharge therefrom.

Our membership on July 29th 1920 was 520. Our membership on August 11th 1921 was 496. Our new member for the year were about 56, showing that about 80 of our last year members have not renewed and paid their dues for this year.

The office of the adjutant issued over 500 State, Victory, City and County medals and Victory Buttons during this year. It has received over 309 letters and circulars and has written over 200 letters of every nature and descripton. It has secured vocational training for members and in one instance over 50 letters were required before the training was secured. It has secured compensation on appeal for others. It has compiled a Scrap Book History of the Post since organization. It has mailed out over 5,600 copies of our monthly paper. It has changed over 450 addresses of members to date. It has secured clothing issues for a number of others.

It has assisted in the location of missing ex-service men, has secured employment for our members, assisted ex-service men who were stranded and without funds, recorded discharges in the Ulster County Clerk's office, solicited early immigration passports for relatives of ex-service men, reinstated and converted war risk insurance policies and secured liberty bonds.

Therefore, gentlemen, you can readily appreciate that Kingston Post has accomplished something during the year about to close and has assisted a large number of ex-service men in obtaining what is due them.

You can also appreciate that the majority of our work has been accomplished outside of our meetings and that no matter where or by whom it was done, Kingston Post of the American Legion secured the credit of doing it.

Permit me to suggest that we should appoint a committee to wait on the mayor of our city and ask him to include at least $100 additional in the Memorial Day fund. Three hundred dollars is now provided for this purpose and is under the control of Major J. H. Everett.

We must also secure an amount from the county, as mentioned previously as it is not right nor proper to ask the city to pay the county expense.

We should have two public engagements each and every year, namely, a grand military and naval ball on armistice night and a show or minstrel during Easter week. With definite program the people will always be ready to participate with us and other public affairs will give way to us, knowing in advance our program.

We should arrange a membership campaign for 1922. The Post has never held an organized campaign for members and the falling off in members clearly demonstrates the absolute necessity of personally going after the ex-service man.

There are printed each month 850 copies of our monthly paper, known as Our Own Number, 150 copies of which go to the Auxiliary. One paper is mailed to members living in Lake Hill, Big Indian, Phoenicia, East Kingston, West Shokan, Yonkers, Connelly, Sleightsburgh, West Park, Poughkeepsie, Morris, Hurleyville, New York city, Saugerties, Mohonk Lake, Chichester, Shady, Earlville, Schenectady, Ilion, Bloomington, High Falls, Sawkill, Glenford, Woodstock, Hurley, Hobart, Ulster Park, Gardiner, White Plains, Marlborough, Rosendale, Lake Katrine, Walden, Highmount, Esopus, Allaben, Shokan, Stone Ridge, Ithaca, Mt. Tremper, Mt. Marion, Eddyville, Rhinecliff, Brooklyn, Tillson, Gilboa, Hardenbergh, Port Ewen, Mt. Vernon, Staten Island, Cornwall Landing, St. Remy, Prattsville, Binnewater, all in New York state, and also on every R. F. D. running out of Kingston. Also the following places outside of the state: Evansville, Ind.; Dallas, Texas; Bloomfield, N. J.; Jersey City, N. J.; Princeton, N. J.; Elizabeth, N. J.; Newark, N. J.; Arlington, N. J.; Tenafly, N. J.; Woodbury, N. J.; North Bergen, N. J.; Union Hill, N. J.; Weehawken, N. J.; Edgewater, N. J.; Detroit, Mich.; Akron, O.; Indiana, Penn.; Baltimore, Md.; New Haven, Conn.; Hartford, Conn.; Portland, Ore.; West Palm Beach, Fla. Montpelier, Vt.; Crafton Station, Penn.; Wemersville, Pa.; Cambridge, Mass.; Chicago, Ill.; and Mentone, Cal.

Therefore, it is established as a fact that over 25% of our members are located outside of our city and without our monthly paper we could not keep in touch with them, which would invariably lead to their losing interest and drop away from us.

The cost of printing the paper is .01c per copy and the cost of mailing is .018c per envelope, making the total cost per issue monthly approximately $19.00 of a total cost per year about $238.

Our income from advertisements for the year will approximate $70, so the net cost of the paper is about $158.00 for the year, which could be considerably lessened if more of our members would advertise.

But were we to use a one cent post card to notify each member of each meeting the cost would be approximately $120.00 per year. It must be remembered that our monthly paper is being mailed monthly to all who have ever been members of the Post organization, which greatly increases the cost, due to the fact that no income is being received from unpaid members.

The services of Christian Melbert, as corporal of our firing squad are very commendable, worthy of special mention in this repor and worthy of your consideration.

The services of our treasurer, James F. Loughran, are also very worthy of special mention. In his work, Mr. Loughran, finds it necessary to devote considerable of his valuable time in accepting from me the dues of members and other receipts, entering the payments in his journal and then preparing the reports for County, State and National Headquarters. With reference to payment of bills against the Post, your treasurer is very exact and extremely conscious of the money he holds for you.

Also permit me to draw to your attention the names of Miss Helen Westbrook, Miss Mary H. Haldane and Mrs. Francis J. Higginson, true and loyal workers for the convalescent soldiers in Ulster County. These ladies, though not eligible to membership in the Women's Auxiliary, are constant workers in your behalf and they have relieved this Post of a great responsibility.

Now, you gentlemen are aware of the activities of your Post during the past year, but remember the self same ground remains to be covered in the year to come. Let me impress upon you that membership is the first and essential part. Without members we can do do but little and with a large membership our work is easier.

Colonel Binshah Ghadiali, the noted Parsee psychologist, has issued a warning that women who ape men will lose their equilibrium and take on male characteristics, even to growing beards. From Paris comes the startling news that French doctors are able to prove by statistics that alcohol and cigarettes cause an abnormal growth of hair on the faces of those who indulge to excess.

John A. Stewart, chairman of the trustees of the United States Trust Company, who was ninety-nine years old a few days ago, is still strong enough to attend to his many business duties. Despite his years, the "Grand Old Man of Wall Street" suffers no hardships in "carrying on." A slight deafness is his only apparent infirmity. He attributes his longevity and excellent physical condition to abstinence from tobacco. Stewart is Columbia's oldest alumnus. He is also the oldest trustee of Princeton University, having been a member of the board since 1868. He knew Woodrow Wilson when the latter was a student in the class of 1879.

"I love to eat berries," said Mr. Box Turtle.

"So better than I do" said Mr. Box Turtle's brother. "Or rather, I should say, that you don't love to eat berries any more than I love to eat them

"I adore berries. And I love vegetables, too Of course, I'll take a nibble at an insect once in awhile, too."

"Just as I will do," said Mr Box Turtle

"Of course," said Mr Box Turtle's brother, "we are famous for the way we can protect ourselves by our box-like shells which we can close up We can draw ourselves into our shells so that creatures cannot get at us

"Some other turtles can do this too, but not so well as we can. They may be pulled at and tugged at and hurt quite badly.

"But when we withdraw ourselves into our shells, no one can get at us at all, no one at all.

"We're safe then.

"But if I go on eating so many berries, I may be so fat that I can't get into my shell. That would be a great pity. But then, eating is such a joy. And berries are so delicious

"It doesn't matter how much we eat, for we are strong, and we live

a long time. If eating made us ill we wouldn't eat so much, for we are sensible.

"But eating a lot seems to agree with us. And though sometimes our eating manners aren't of the best, we don't care. Sometimes we get berry stains over ourselves.

"I can't say that our table manners aren't of the best, as we never eat at tables.

"So I simply say that our eating manners aren't of the best. That is what I say.

"We're so strong that we can get well of injuries and accidents which are quite bad ones. We're wonderfully strong. And we can breathe in our shells without getting the air for quite awhile, too.

"That is a great help, for when we are in our shells we want to be able to stand it comfortably. Of course, we're always in our shells, in a way, and quite a good-sized way at that.

"But when I speak of being in our shells, I mean when we get into our shells so that there is nothing of us such as a head or foot sticking out!

"That is what I mean."

"To be sure, I understand," said Mr. Box Turtle.

"The berry season is my favorite season of the year," said Mr. Box Turtle's brother.

"And mine, too," said Mr. Box Turtle.

"There is no other season like it," said Mr. Box Turtle's brother.

"No other season like it at all," said Mr. Box Turtle.

"And I don't really mind if I get so fat that I cannot close my box shell for awhile," said Mr. Box Turtle's brother. "I will take a chance that there will be no danger and will eat and eat and eat."

"I believe I will do the same," said Mr. Box Turtle. "And too, perhaps we won't grow so fat after all. We may grow fat, but not fat enough so that it would be hard to withdraw into our safety boxes."

"That's a pleasant thought," said Mr. Box Turtle's brother.

"But at any rate I must eat. I mustn't miss any of the berries that I can possibly manage to eat. If I did, I'd feel very badly about it.

"And the berries wouldn't care if I left them. What would be the use of leaving them? None at all that I can see.

"Surely I would be able to see if there was any use in leaving them. But I shall eat and eat and eat, and shall enjoy it, oh, so much."

"Let's begin right away," said Mr. Box Turtle. "We've been taking quite a rest from eating for a bit, now."

"A good suggestion," said Mr. Box Turtle's brother. "A most excellent suggestion, and one worthy of a Box Turtle, a bright, bright Box Turtle."

Stories of Great Scouts

By Elmo Scott Watson

© Western Newspaper Union.

CUSTER'S CROW SCOUTS—

There were six of them, these warriors of the Crow or Absaroke nation, who rode with Custer on his last march down the Little Big Horn river in Montana that day in June, 1876. When the leader of the Seventh cavalry asked General Terry for his best Crow scouts in the camp on the Little Rosebud creek, Terry told him he could have Curley, "White Man Runs Him," Hairy Moccasin, "Goes Ahead," Yellow Face and White Swan. The Crows were glad to serve with the famous Indian fighter and they guided him on it they located the hostile camp on the Little Big Horn.

When Custer divided his command to attack the village, Yellow Face and White Swan were sent with Major Reno and Custer kept "White Man Runs Him," Curly, "Goes Ahead" and Hairy Moccasin with him. Yellow Face was killed while fighting with Reno, and White Swan was badly wounded, but finally recovered and lived until 1905.

Today Curley is the only survivor of the Custer Crow scouts and, according to his story, he is the last man who saw his commander alive.

After crossing the ridge, Custer turned to "White Man Runs Him," Hairy Moccasin and "Goes Ahead," and said to them: "You have done your duty. You have led me to the enemy. My soldiers will do the fighting. You are to go now and save your lives." The scouts left him and made their way to the pack train under Capt. Tom McDougall.

When Curley returned from Reno's position, he was given the same order. He started and soon found himself in the midst of a hot fight. Finding a dead Sioux warrior, he took his horse, gun and blanket. Wrapping the blanket about his head to conceal his Crow scalplock from the Sioux, Curley succeeded in reaching a high butte. Looking back he saw that Custer had charged down upon the Indians and was surrounded. Curley says that he watched the battle until he saw Custer, who was the last man standing, fall and then he rode away.

The next morning the Crow scout appeared in General Terry's camp. He could not speak English and there was no interpreter. Curley took blades of grass, piled them all in a heap, and then, exclaiming "Pouf! Pouf!" in imitation of the sound of a gun, scattered them wide apart. By means of this he made the officer understand that Custer and all of his men had been killed. Like the famous Greek, Curley the Crow was a messenger of disaster and he brought the first news of this Thermopylae of America—Custer's last fight.

Bride Cake.

The origin of bride cake dates back to earliest times. In fact, it was an introduction of the Romans to the bridal bouquet, with the view of counteracting the evils of indigestion which might arise from too free indulgence in the rich offerings of the marriage table. In his work, "De Re Rustica," Cato gives us the recipe for this medieval dainty. It consisted of meal, calamel, cummin, and sundry other aromatic ingredients, and it may be said, with much truth, that the spicy compound was better adapted to stave off indigestion than the modern cake to which it gave origin.

Galsworthy Misfortune.

During the American Revolution, the commander of a brigade in Delaware was a veteran cock-fighter, who always had on "the blue hen's chickens." Hence the name came to be applied to the members of his brigade, and finally to the state itself. Delaware has also been nicknamed "the diamond state," on being small and precious.

PRESERVES AND CONSERVES.

The season for putting up the good things from garden and field is at hand, and the weather, though hot, will not hinder the thrifty housewife in her preparation for the winter and a full fruit closet.

Fruit Conserve.

—Take one pound of raisins, two pounds of tart cherries, the juice and rind of three oranges and four cupfuls of sugar. Chop the fruit, add the sugar and cook 20 minutes. Seal in small air-tight jars

Preserved Pears.—Take six pounds of pared, cored and halved pears; add four pounds of sugar and two cupfuls of water, the juice of two lemons, the rind of one cut in strips and one ounce of ginger root Drop the pears into cold water as soon as pared to keep them from discoloring Boil together the sugar, lemon and ginger for half an hour. Drop the pears, a few at a time, into the sirup and cook 15 minutes. Drop into sterilized jars and pour over the thick sirup when all are cooked Seal at once.

Spiced Apple Jelly.—Take one peck of tart apples, one-half cupful of mixed spices Put the spices in a bag and cook the apples in equal parts of vinegar and water to cover, adding the spices When the apples are soft, drain in a jelly bag. Boil the juice with equal quantities or a little less of heated sugar. When jellied, pour into glasses and cover with paraffin when cool.

Rose Pudding.—Pour one pint of raspberry juice into a saucepan with one cupful of sugar, add one half cupful of corn starch, mixed with a little cold water, to the boiling fruit juice; when partly cooled add a teaspoonful of rose extract and one-half teaspoonful of almond extract. Fold in the stiffly beaten whites of two eggs. Dip a melon mold into cold water and sprinkle with chopped almonds Fill the mold and sprinkle with almonds. Serve with whipped cream heaped around the unmolded cream.

The Jungle of Ceylon.

The jungle is as terrible as an army with banners. Sleeping in the little rest-house, when the night has fallen, it comes close up to you, creeping, leaning over you, calling, whispering, vibrating with secret life. A word more—only one—a movement, and you would know the meaning and be gathered into the heart of it; but always there is something that, impalpable, between, and you catch but a breath of the whisper. Very wonderful is the jungle! In the moonlight of a small clearing I saw the huge bulk of three wild elephants feeding. They vanished like wraiths into the depths. The fireflies were beating in the air like flitting diamonds. Stealthy life and movement were about me, the jungle, wide-awake and aware, moving on its own occasion.—L. Adams Beck, in the Atlantic Monthly.

WAR PRICES IN PEACE.

The unbending attitude of labor in the matter of holding out for war prices at a time when nearly six million persons are unemployed is matched, or more than matched, by the attitude of the great majority of hotels and restaurants. A return to pre-war prices is announced by several concerns, but we read of only one hotel, a beach front establishment in Atlantic City, that has done the like. Other hotels have not only hastened to announce that such action is impossible in their case but declare that the action of the Atlantic City house is merely a shrewd advertising dodge. Some of them even go so far as to assert that food has never produced a profit. In response to this remarkable assertion the Philadelphia Record points to the current report that a restaurant of its city has just declared a dividend of 60 per cent, and cites as an instance of particular profit a bill of fare listing an order of honey-dew melon at 80 cents, "no more than a quarter slice of the whole melon which may be bought in the retail markets now for about 30 cents."

Unquestionably there is something wrong, and inevitably there is going to be a modification of war prices all along the line. The public has been milked to the limit and is no longer of a temper favorable to the designs of those who would like to make it the goat permanently. Caterers to a self-conscious "high-brow" trade priding itself on the amount of money it spends may continue excessive charges, but the rank and file of purveyors will have to come down. What is called a consumers' strike has accomplished something already and will accomplish more.

ARE WOMEN TALLER AND WHY?

It is announced from Paris that "bearded women are on the increase" and the blame for this appalling development is laid at the door of cigarettes and alcohol. The obvious objection to this explanation is that alcohol is as old as time and that men grew beards ages before tobacco was discovered among the American Indians, a people with abundant coarse growth on their heads but with little or no hair on their faces. We have too many explanations that fail to explain. For example, a prominent physical training expert, announcing that American women have added an inch and a half to their average height in 40 years, attributes this to athletics. It is quite possible to believe that the average college girl has been made harder and healthier physically by tennis and other outdoor sports, but it is not so easy to believe that the "average height" of American women has been increased to the extent stated by athletics because the average American woman takes no part in athletics, unless the gentle jolting she receives on the seat of a speeding automobile may be so described.

The average American woman gets out into the open air more than formerly, perhaps, and owing to servant scarcity and high wages she has more physical exercise through enforced association with the broom, the cook-pot and the wash-tub, but with athletics she has hardly even a distant acquaintance. Certainly athletics alone have not made our women an inch and a half taller in 40 years—if that much taller they really are—except perhaps in the case of the relatively few.

With all hands working to reduce the cost of living there is a chance that there will be an appreciable reduction. The people themselves have something to say about prices, if they only would stop to think a minute, but many of them don't. Now it would appear as if they were giving prices some consideration, and the more consideration they give the quicker prices will come down. Just doing without things you do not require will put a crimp in the price of those things and eventually put them within reach. It may be charged to the few, but the people nevertheless have some regulatory effect on prices just the same.

Autumn is about here and the melancholy days will soon be ours to greet. While the so-called melancholy days may sober us up some they have nothing on the gray November morns, particularly if the coal bin and other winter responsibilities are pressing for attention. But whether it is Spring, with hope abundant, the good old Summer time, Autumn, or Winter, the philosopher takes things as they come, finding some pleasure all along the route.

Answers To Previous Questions.

1. Will mistletoe hurt a tree it grows on?

Yes, if it gets a good foothold it will penetrate the tree at more than one point and constantly steal some of the tree's sap. If discovered on a branch, merely plucking it off will not eradicate it, since the root will be embedded within the wood. The only safe way is to cut off the branch, thus preventing the mistletoe root from sending up new shoots.

2. Is there any truth in the fable of the pelican feeding its young with its own blood?

No, but the fable is founded on an incorrect observation of a real fact. Tiny birds are fed on predigested food from the parents' crops. Some birds put their beaks into the throat of the young, and pump the soft food down. Others as pelicans and cormorants, allow the young bird to put its beak into the throat of the parent, and feed this way.

3. Do animals migrate like birds?

Only a few do. Seals, which are mammals, migrate presumably great distances with regularity. Walruses move north in summer. The American bison in its wild state had the habit of wandering twice a year from Canada to Mexico, obviously to take advantage of pasture at different seasons. Norway lemmings migrate but irregularly, seeming to make rushes into new territory when over-population forces a move.

AT THE THEATERS.

Vaudeville at Opera House—Norma Talmadge at Keeney's.

Richey W. Craig's musical revue with eight exceptionally good vaudeville numbers is the attraction at the Opera House again tonight and the balance of the week excepting Friday, with an entire new change of show Wednesday. The company opened last night and delighted hundreds and will no doubt attract capacity audiences at every performance. The photoplay is Owen Moore in "A Divorce of Convenience," a most delightful photoplay with a human touch of interest that appeals to everyone.

Norma Talmadge in "The Branded Woman" at Keeney's yesterday excited no end of comment from all who were fortunate enough to see her. The story is adapted from the stage play "Branded," by Oliver D. Baily. Buster Keaton, the screen's newest comedy sensation in "The Scarecrow," is so funny that it would make even a cat laugh. Wednesday Keeney's will offer Bebe Daniels in "Ducks and Drakes," the naughy, naughty story of a recklessly pretty flirt.

Eileen Percy in "The Maid of the West," at the Auditorium, a stirring story of the great cow country where a pretty little cowgirl starts things humming in the east. The action is swift and thrilling with a story that grips and entertains. Wednesday Eileen Sedgewick in "The Diamond Queen."

Nearly every American reads with enjoyment each day of the doings of Jiggs and his family as pictured in the cartoons of George McManus in his "Bringing Up Father." This delightful comedy will be seen at the Kingston Opera House on Friday night. This season's offering is called "Bringing Up Father in Wall Street." Fully twenty catchy song hits and lilting musical numbers punctuate the offering.

ON-A-JOB, OFF-A-JOB JIM!

Being a Story Of how Jim got on a job and why he got off it again.

At the dance, Jim picked up news of a county fair to be held at a town twenty miles away. He also learned that Ezra Whiting was planning to exhibit his freak animals there. "If I can get a job with him," thought Jim, "I'll be twenty miles nearer home."

He inquired where Ezra lived and found the farm which was in darkness. Everyone had gone to bed, but he managed to wake up Mrs. Whiting who called from the window to inquire his business and rrefused to wake up Ezra to discuss his plans.

"I know as how he leaves at 4 a. m. and if you've got anything to say to him, say it then."

Jim returned to the Billings home, bade his employer farewell, and laid on the couch for a few hours of sleep. He reached Ezra's place just as the man was cranking his truck motor, and assailed him.

"Can't you use me at the fair grounds?"

"What can you do? Know anything about animals?"

"Not much."

"Then what good are you?"

"My turn to question now. What are you going to do with your animals?"

"Show 'em off, of course."

"How are you going to get the people into your tent to see them?"

"Well, say, won't they come in when they read the signs telling them about the three-legged hen, the neckless rooster, the pig with a straight tail? Shucks! In this day of education people has learned to use their eyes."

"But see here, Mr. Whiting, they want to use their ears, too."

"Ears or eyes, it's nothing to me when I've got to go twenty miles and set up my tent before breakfast."

Jim jumped up on the seat beside Ezra. "Keep on going. I can talk just as well when moving. No, sir, the best way to get a crowd in to see your freaks is by talking to them. You need a barker."

"Humph! Do you call yourself one?"

"Don't I sound like one?"

"You do that. If you can talk me into hiring you, you can talk the guys into entering the tent. You're on, bub."

During the day, Jim drew in many wandering souls who would not have been attracted to the tent save for his witty "barking." He was enjoying himself, too, and regretting that his job was nearing an end, since he must change every two days in order to inherit his uncle's money, when a sheriff arrived at the tent.

"Where's the owner of this joint?"

"Over yonder." Jim was ignorant of Ezra's whereabouts. In fact, he suddenly realized that he had not seen him for some time.

"Order for his arrest." The sheriff marched into the tent, and approached the freaks. He pulled out the third leg from the hen, and untied a firm yet stiff wire from the pig's abbreviated tail. "Cruelty to animals. He's got them all touched up in one way and another. What you got to do with this show?" to Jim.

"I'm only the barker."

"Well, you take my advice and bark out before you lose your chance."

Late that afternoon Jim took to the rails in the direction of home. He hadn't found Ezra nor his two days' pay either. "But I'm twenty miles nearer the city, and two days nearer the end of this job of getting on and off a job, and that's something."

Personal Charm.

Unselfishness is one of the keys to personal charm, which means good manners. The woman who would be a successful woman, a woman of charm, must be an unselfish woman. She must be unselfish in her own interests. She must repress natural instincts to be bad-tempered when she is tired, to retort sharply when contradicted on her own particular subjects. She must listen when she wants to talk, and she must never for one moment be off her guard in the world.—Exchange.

PESKY BED BUGS

Bedbugs lay an average of seven eggs per day. Under favorable conditions they hatch in five days of which two-thirds are females. They mature to adult size and are capable of laying in four weeks. How many bedbugs would you have in a year if you left one female or egg unmolested for one year? To rid the pesky bedbug, you can readily see how necessary it is to use a preparation that will kill the eggs as well as the live ones. P. D. Q. has been demonstrated by the leading Hospitals, Hotels and Railroad Companies that the safest and most economical way to stop future generations of bedbugs, roaches, fleas and ants is to use the new discovery, "Pesky Devils Quietus "P. D. Q."

A 35c package of P. D. Q. makes a quart, enough to kill a million bedbugs, roaches, fleas and cooties and at the same time destroy their eggs.

Impossible for them to exist where P. D. Q. is properly used. Free, patent spout in every package to get at pesky devils in the hard-to-get-at places and save the juice.

Special Hospital and Hotel size $2 —makes five gallons of P. D. Q.—your druggist has it or can get it for you, sent prepaid upon receipt of price by the Owl Chemical Co., Terre Haute, Ind. Success of P. D. Q. has caused imitators; genuine P. D. Q. is not peddled.

Grammatical Controversy.

The controversy as to the propriety using "It is me" instead of "It is I" several centuries old. It arose from e fact that from the earliest times ere was in use in the languages of urope two sounds that served to indite the person speaking. In English ey appear as "I" and "me," the oldform of "I" being "Ic." In the rnacular of England both forms of e phrase are used, but "It is me" nds greater favor, if one may take terature as indicating preference. otwithstanding the fact, the gramarians have arrayed themselves ainst it. Considered etymologically, the correct form is "It am I," and is is the way in which the phrase as used by Chaucer in "The Knightes ale" lines 1463 and 1738.—Literary igest.

Indians' Use of Oysters.

Long before the advent of the white ttlers on the shores of America the dian tribes living near the Atlantic ast subsisted to a large extent on sters. In fact, many of the Inans of that period not only made mmendable use of oysters at meal me, but they actually used the shells coin of the realm. These commerally inclined redskins of by-gone centries converted their oysters into a edium of exchange by drying and oking them. They would then string em on twigs and carry them to the ibes living in the valleys between the ountains considerable distances from e coast, where they would be used purchasing buffalo meat and hides d various other articles that were obtainable along the coast.

LOCAL DEATH RECORD.

Recent Deaths and Funerals of Persons In This Vicinity.

Ilene D. Shutts, infant daughter of W. L. Shutts and Gertrude Deyo Shutts, died at the home of her parents, No. 11 Ponckhockie street, at an early hour this morning. Funeral services will be held at the family home Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock. Interment at Westkill, N. Y., on Thursday morning.

John A Klothe died Sunday at his home at Newark, N. J., after a lingering illness. He formerly resided at Port Jervis and was a member of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen and of Valentine Lodge, Knights and Ladies of Honor of Port Jervis. He is survived by his wife; one brother, Lewis W. Klothe of Kingston, and several nephews and nieces. The funeral will take place at Newark Wednesday evening and interment will be at Port Jervis on Thursday.

The funeral of Edward J. Hovers, the 15-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hovers, was held from his home, No. 21 German street, this morning at 9 o'clock and at 9:30 from St. Peter's Church, where a requiem Mass was offered for the repose of his soul by the Rev. J. P. Neumann. The services were largely attended and the children of St. Peter's school attended the services in a body. Father Ostermann accompanied the remains to St. Peter's cemetery where the committal services were held.

Ira Coutant of No. 83 Henry street died suddenly on Monday. The funeral arrangements will be announced later. Mr. Coutant was a son of the late George S. Coutant, who was for many years prominently identified with the cement business in the town of Rosendale. The deceased was a native of that town and was connected with the cement business in his early years. Later he removed to Kingston and engaged in the grocery business on Broadway, near the West Shore Railroad, for several years, when he became identified with the insurance business. More recently Mr. Coutant had been employed as an accountant with a local concern. He is survived by his wife.

James B. Cameron died this morning at his home, 571 Broadway. The funeral will be held Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock with interment in Wiltwyck cemetery. Mr. Cameron is survived by his wife, two brothers, Samuel Cameron of Enterprise, Canada and Daniel Cameron of Akron, Ohio, and one sister, Mrs. Alexander Bush. He was a member of Rondout Lodge, No. 343, F. & A. M., Mt. Horeb Chapter, Rondout Commandery Knights Templar, Cyprus Temple, Albany, the Kingston Shriners' Association, Kingston Lodge, No. 155, O. E. S., Aretas Lodge, I. O. O. F., Atharhacton Lodge of Rebekahs, No. 357; Wawarsing Tribe, I. O. R. M., Haymakers No. 323, and Pratt Post. In the Civil War he served with the 25th Regiment in the regular army, and was an honorary member of Kingston Hook and Ladder Company. He belonged to St. John's Church.

Hurley, Aug. 30.—Mrs. John L. Elmendorf was buried on Sunday afternoon from the house which had been her home for so many years. As might be easily thought, a large number of relatives and friends, some from considerable distance away, met to pay their last memories of friendship to the one they had known and esteemed for many years. The service was held by the Rev. Mr. French of our village church; it was simple and therefore impressively carried out. The interment was in Hurley cemetery by her husband, who died in 1915. With the death of Mrs. Elmendorf, Hurley loses another of its rapidly diminishing number of those who have been so essentially a part of the village. Nearly all her lifetime had been spent here and during all these years, as Aunt Eliza, she was known and esteemed by a large number of friends and, as the years saw the friends and relatives of early days growing less, this friendship and love grew all the closer and keener. She was possessed of a ready with and keen apprehension and it was a pleasure to meet and talk with her, as has been the good fortune of the writer for years. Mrs. Elmendorf had always been a most active woman, endowed with great vitality and even in these later days of modern contrivances, she clung still to the ways of her youth and manifested a deep interest in all that pertained to farm life of which her own life had been such an integral part. Only the last year or two, on account of bodily infirmities, did she relinquish her hold upon such affairs. Mrs. Wyness, the youngest member of the family, was with her mother during these years, ministering every comfort to her mother's welfare. Many of us will miss a dear friend and adviser.

Fundamental Business Principles.

From a purely coldblooded business point of view, honesty is the best policy. To treat the other man as you would have him treat you is an equally fundamental business principle. This does not mean that you should surrender your rights or neglect to avail yourself of your opportunities. It simply means that in the game of business, the same rules of sportsmanship should prevail as in a boxing bout, in a match of golf, or in a football game.—John D. Rockefeller, Jr.

Superstitions Concerning the Kiss.

The kiss is a part of numberless superstitions. The Germans believe a charm against lightning is effected by making three crosses before you and kissing the ground. The French kiss the cards before the game begins to bring luck in gambling. Pliny seriously advised a man suffering with toothache to kiss a mule to stop the pain. The Danes believe bad luck is turned away if you kiss the piece of bread you drop on the floor. They also believe it bad luck if the first person you meet in the morning is an old woman; nevertheless you can ward off the consequences by giving her a kiss.

Our Composite Face.

There is great truth in the observations of James Gibbons Huneker upon his return to New York. He says: "The motley crowd marches on heedless heels. Possibly a green face might make it pause, though we doubt it; poor Baudelaire with his hair dyed green would not have a chance of recognition. Just one more nut. Every nationality except American traverses our streets. Are there any New Yorkers in town? The Slavic, Hebraic and Italian types predominate where once Irish, German and American ruled. The Japanese and Chinese are bound to come, and then what a composite face will be ours.

The Butterfly.

Ah, the butterfly! Even when chased, it never has the air of being in a hurry.—"Japanese Lyrics."

GIRLS OF WHOM TO BEWARE

Japanese "Widowed Physician" Hands Out Some Words of Caution to Susceptible Male Sex.

In "What to Tell Our Grown-Up Sons About Women," a pamphleteer who calls himself "The Widowed Physician," has made a list of the things he dislikes in girls. He admits that he deals with "objectionable characteristics," but disarms the criticism that he fails to indicate positive virtues by saying that "the nice youth needs no qualities of the opposite sex." "The Widowed Physician" sums up his ideas in a few brief warnings, as follows, the Japan Advertiser states:

Beware of the girls who manicure their nails to the shape of a claw. I do not know why, but beware of them.

Beware of girls who prefer to dress in purple or scarlet colors.

Beware of grils who are heavily scented.

Beware of the girl who is too obviously modest and demure. She doth protest too much.

Beware of the girl with low, sloping forehead and dry, straight, coarse, jute-like hair. Any experienced magistrate will tell you that this type of woman frequently summons her husband for assault and battery.

Beware of the intensely religious girl. She does not mean to be dangerous, but the fact that she is so devotional indicates that she possesses an unbalanced temperament.

Beware of the girl who sidles up to you, or lays hands on you; or comes so close to you as to lead you readily to lay hands on her.

Specially beware of "married women" of reputed responsibility, whom you have formerly had every reason to believe in and respect, when these same women, by acts obvious or guarded, show you that they would not object to your being more intimate with them than you know in your own conscience you ought to be.

Beware of the mothers who are anxious as to the future of their daughters.

Beware of the girl who drinks wines freely; she will make a poor wife and a worse mother.

Beware of the girl who dresses in a slovenly, artistic manner.

The "Widowed Physician" recommends two types—the tomboy and the "pert, modern, self-sufficient learned young woman." He adds: "She would sharpen your wits every time."

Among the equipment being taken on the trip is a specally designed airplane for use in the ice-bound region about the South Pole.

The New Santa Barbara Light.

Many persons are still fond of the oil lamp to read by at home. In the house it still gives the amount of brilliancy desired. But lighting engineers claim superiority for the electric light in a fog.

An electric light of 1,000,000 candlepower is to be installed in the Santa Barbara lighthouse. The light itself is not 1,000,000 candle-power, but the light is intensified by the use of refractors ingeniously cut and placed. In clear weather the light will not be visible any further than the old oil lamp, which shines 20 miles. The light is 178 feet above sea level and 20 miles is the horizon limit. But in foggy weather the new light will be visible two or three miles in place of one mile, the limit of the oil lamp's beams.

Rocky Road to Knowledge.

A man who was acting queerly about the rooms of the local library last week excited much comment. He was in search of some book of reference but refused to accept the aid of the librarian in his search. After he had made a second or third visit and gone it was learned he was a member of a debating society and had been chosen to uphold the affirmative on the question: "Could you and would you order the courtmartial of a soldier who saved the lives of the members of his company by shooting the company cook?"—Pottsville (Pa.) Journal.

COURT SUSTAINS GEIGER JUDGMENT

Justice Rosch Says Jury's Findings Should Be Approved in Drowned Lands Law Suit in Wawarsing.

Supreme Court Justice Rosch of Liberty has handed down a decision in the case of Augustus Geiger against Dwight Divine, which was tried before him and a jury in the Supreme court in this city during March of this year.

The action was brought to recover $2,000 damages which Mr. Geiger claims he sustained by reason of the concrete dam built by Mr. Divine across the stream known as the Good Beer Kill, with the resultant flooding of forty acres of farm land in that section of the town of Wawarsing known as "The Cape."

The defendant claimed that his predecessors in title, among others one Tuttle and the Delaware & Hudson Canal Company, for more than twenty years prior to the grievance complained of by Mr. Geiger had erected and maintained a dam of the same or greater height than that which Mr. Divine erected in 1910, causing the waters of the Good Beer Kill to be set back to the same or greater extent on the Geiger lands.

The case was twice tried. On the first trial, Justice Rudd of Albany dismissed the complaint. An appeal was taken by Mr. Geiger to the appellate division of the supreme court which sent the case back for re-trial. The second trial was had before Justice Rosch and a jury. The second trial occupied about ten days. Many of the witnesses were old men of the neighborhood, whose testimony related to their recollection of previous dams along the Good Beer Kill and the condition of the land bordering the creek in the vicinity of "The Cape," part of which lands are known as the "Drowned Lands."

Justice Rosch submitted to the jury the question: "Did the dam maintained by Tuttle and the Delaware & Hudson Canal Company flood the plaintiff's premises substantially?" The jury answered "No."

In his memorandum just handed down, Justice Rosch says:

"The question submitted to the jury in this action was clearly a question of fact, to which under the evidence they could and did answer No. I believe that such finding by the jury should be approved.

"At the time the plaintiff Geiger purchased the DeYoung property, and from the time he went into possession thereof, the dam was open, and there was no overflowing of his property on account of the dam. The defendant under the proof cannot claim to hold the right of flowage by virtue of any grant. The conveyance to Geiger is without any exceptions or reservations insofar as the claim of defendant is concerned. I believe under the law he was protected by his conveyance (Real Property Law, Sec. 291.) There was no possession or occupation prior to the time of the reconstructed dam, and at the time of the acquisition of title by Geiger. A possession or occupancy under such circumstances should be 'actual, open and visible.' It could not be for a special or a temporary purpose. Neither could it be consistent with rights under license or lease.

"I have passed upon the proposed findings, and made decision directing a judgment in favor of plaintiff. The form of judgment can be settled upon notice."

Amos Van Etten of this city has represented Mr. Geizer throughout the litigation, with Cleon B. Murray of Ellenville, of counsel on the trial; Judge Clearwater has represented Mr. Divine in all proceedings, with John W. Eckert, of counsel during the trial.

OLD GILBOA.

Yes, 'twill soon be under water.
Not a vestige left, nor scrap,
And that once proud little hamlet
Will be stricken from the map.
Slow but sure the work's progressing.
Soon, yes at an early date
'Twill be said Gilboa's surrendered
To the iron hand of fate.

Motor trucks and huge steam shovels
With their gangs of husky men,
Sure are tearing things to pieces
On clay hill and in the glen.
And the village, it's deserted.
All the natives they have fled.
Some have gone to other quarters.
Some are sleeping with the dead.

All the Buckinghams, Mattices,
Strykers, Baldwins, Crooks and Weeds,
All the Frishies, Shakers, Southards,
Beckers, Mackeys, Potters, Reeds.
All the Warners, Hazzards, Haydocks:
Just a remnant now is left.
And our home town once so pretty
Of its beauty is bereft.

There are doctors, lawyers, teachers,
Preachers, printers, not a few
Unpretentious, conscientious,
Brave and noble, tried and true.
It's Old Home Week, I can see them.
And the tears that trickle down
As they gaze in breathless silence
At the devastated town.

In the cemetery yonder,
Where we laid our precious dead,
There to rest beneath the daisies,
In their little narrow bed.
Oh, the scene, it's sure appalling.
They are taking them away.
Hear the clink of spade and shovel.
Breaking day by day.

As I turn and look about me,
Where the school house used to stand,
Where I went each week day morning,
Holding fast to brother's hand,
And the church where once I worshipped,
Yes, it's gone with all the rest,
Oh, the tears I can't suppress them,
Strange emotions fill my breast.

New York City needs the water,
So the record experts say,
Although a few millennia
With the million barrels a day,
Thirsty thirsters cannot have water,
But the end I'll tell you why,
More than ever now they need it,
Since the country's gone bone dry.

Old Gilboa, you sure are going,
And the thought disturbs my sleep,
Buried neath the surging billows,
Swallowed in the misty deep.
Dear old town, we'll not forget you.
Nor as long as life shall last,
At the hour we pray the Lord's prayer,
Your last land an honorid past.

Bernard V. Roach, historian.

The following were named on the executive committee: Christian Melbert, George B. Hinds, Marion L. Lounsberry, R. F. Chidsey, Edward Leudtke, Lester Elmendorf, Albert Cook, Dr. A. M. Sutton, John Nolan, DuBois Gillette and Edward Geschwinder.

A committee was appointed to advise the people that Amendment No. 1, giving veterans preference in Civil Service would be voted on at the coming general election and to ask the support of the people.

The treasurer's report showed a balance of $124.53 in the general fund and $1,447.25 on deposit in a savings bank at interest in the "Building Fund." At the present time the Post has 496 members paid to date for the year 1920-1921.

Letters of thanks were received and read for the expression of sympathy of the post from the families of George F. Schirick and Mrs. Frederick William Galbraith, Jr., wife of the national commander who was killed this summer in an automobile accident while engaged in American Legion work.

A report was also read from the State Bonus Commission stating that an opinion on the constitutionality of the bonus was expected by September 1st, and that if the opinion is favorable, payment of the bonus can be expected by October 1st. The Court of Appeals will convene in Albany Wednesday at 10 o'clock and it is expected that an opinion will be handed down shortly after the court convenes.

The report of Eugene B. Carey, adjutant of the Post was received. The report contains a brief outline of the work which has been accomplished by the Post the past year: The report follows:

I feel honored to be called upon to present for your consideration the report of the adjutant of Kingston Post, No. 150, American Legion for the 1920-1921.

While our membership has fallen off this year, still the activity of the Post has increased with leaps and bounds over past years and the duties of my office have been more numerous than ever.

To the uninterested, unattentive member it might appear that Kingston Post plays no part in the civic, fraternal or charitable life of our city and county, but after a careful perusal of our work during the year, they and most others will be surprised.

Kingston Post has always been recognized by County, District and State headquarters of the American Legion and during the year past we were represented on the State Civil Service Committee and the State Athletic Committee.

During the year we had the pleasure of official visits by the District Commander, Mr. A. S. Callan, of Chatham, N. Y., Hugh W. Robertson of New York City, Assistant to the State Commander and by Miss Rose W. Sawyer of New York City, Executive Secretary and head of the Women's Auxiliary.

Kingston Post assisted in the formation of a Soldier's Home in Willow, Ulster County, and which is now completely equipped and highly appreciated by our convalescent comrades who are sent to recuperate in that section by the U. S. Public Health Service.

Kingston Post also assisted in the establishment of the Soldier's Home on Albany avenue, this city, and to which fund they donated the sum of $100.00 and paid into the fund another $14.00 for tickets sold by our members.

We held a grand Military and Naval Ball in the Armory on May 4th of this year which was a complete success and a compliment to our Post and which netted us about $800.

We secured proper and due respect for The Colors flying from the Central Post Office Building. Heretofore the flag was permitted to remain on the flag staff every hour of the day and night and now it is taaken down each evening at sun set and raised each morning.

We excelled in the observation of Memorial Day by placing grave markers and poppies on the graves of the ex-service men and women in our city and the surrounding towns and villages not represented by a Legion Post. The total expense for this was $73.75.

We formed a Ladies' Auxiliary which now bosts of over 150 members.

We received The Colors and Post Banner from the City of Kingston through the efforts of Past Commander Dillon, President of the Board of Aldermen and the cost of same was $135.

We contracted with the J. H. Rogers Producing Company for a show at Kingston during Carter Week of 1922.

We purchased twelve additional grave markers and have now placed sixty-two (62) on the graves of our comrades who died in the service or after discharge therefrom.

Our membership on July 29th 1920 was 520. Our membership on August 11th 1921 was 496. Our new members for the year were about 50, showing that about 80 of our last year members have not renewed and paid their dues for this year.

The office of the adjutant issued over 500 State, Victory, City and County medals and Victory Buttons during this year. It has received over 300 letters and circulars and has written over 200 letters of every nature and description. It has secured numerous transportations for members and in one instance over 50 letters were received before the transfer was secured. It has secured compensation on appeal for others. It has compiled a Scrap Book History of the Post since organization. It has mailed out over 5,600 copies of our monthly paper. It has changed over 450 addresses of members to date. It has secured clothing issues for a number of others.

It has assisted in the location of missing ex-service men, has secured employment for our members, assisted ex-service men who were stranded and without funds, recorded discharges in the Ulster County Clerk's office, solicited early immigration passports for relatives of ex-service men, reinstated and converted war risk insurance policies and secured liberty bonds.

Therefore, gentlemen, you can readily appreciate that Kingston Post has accomplished something during the year about to close and has assisted a large number of ex-service men in obtaining what is due them.

You can also appreciate that the majority of our work has been accomplished outside of our meetings and that no matter where or by whom it was done, Kingston Post of the American Legion secured the credit of doing it.

Permit me to suggest that we should appoint a committee to wait on the mayor of our city and ask him to include at least $100 additional in the Memorial Day fund. Three hundred dollars is now provided for this purpose and is under the control of Major J. H. Everett.

We must also secure an amount from the county, as mentioned previously as it is not right nor proper to ask the city to pay the county expense.

We should have two public entertainments each and every year, namely, a grand military and naval ball on armistice night and a show or minstrel during Easter week. With definite program the people will always be ready to participate with us and other public affairs will give way to us, knowing in advance our program.

We should arrange a membership campaign for 1922. The Post has never held an organized campaign for members and the falling off in members clearly demonstrates the absolute necessity of personally going after the ex-service man.

There are printed each month 450 copies of our monthly paper, known as Our Own Number, 150 copies of which go to the Auxiliary, the paper is mailed to members living in Lake Hill, Ric Indian, Phoenicia, East Kingston, West Shokan, Tonkers, Connelly, Saltzmanburgh, West Park, Panchkeepsie, Morris, Hurleyville, New York city, Saugerties, Modenk Lake, Chichester, Shady, Earlsville, Schenectady, Hop, Bloomingdale, High Falls, Sawkill, Glenford, Woodstock, Hurley, Hobart, Ulster Park, Gardiner, White Plains, Marlborough, Rosendale, Lake Katrine, Walden, Highmount, Smyrna, Allaben, Shokan, Stone Ridge, Ithaca, Mt. Tremper, Mt. Marion, Uddyville, Hopewell, Brooklyn, Tillson, Gilboa, Hardenbergh, Port Ewen, Mt. Vernon, Staten Island, Cornwall Landing, St. Remy, Prattsville, Binnewater, all in New York state, and also on every R. F. D. running out of Kingston. Also the following places outside of the state: Evansville, Ind.; Dallas, Texas; Bloomfield, N. J.; Jersey City, N. J.; Princeton, N. J.; Elizabeth, N. J.; Newark, N. J.; Arlington, N. J.; Tenafly, N. J.; Woodbury, N. J.; North Bergen, N. J.; Union Hill, N. J.; Weehawken, N. J.; Edgewater, N. J.; Detroit, Mich.; Akron, O.; Indiana, Penn.; Baltimore, Md.; New Haven, Conn.; Hartford, Conn.; Portland, Ore.; West Palm Beach, Fla. Montpelier, Vt.; Crafton Station, Penn.; Wemersville, Pa.; Cambridge, Mass.; Chicago, Ill.; and Mentone, Cal.

Therefore, it is established as a fact that over 25% of our members are located outside of our city and without our monthly paper we could not keep in touch with them, which would invariably lead to their losing interest and drop away from us.

The cost of printing the paper is .01c per copy and the cost of mailing is .018c per envelope, making the total cost per issue monthly approximately $19.00 of a total cost per year about $238.

Our income from advertisements for the year will approximate $70, so the net cost of the paper is about $158.00 for the year, which could be considerably lessened if more of our members would advertise.

But were we to use a one cent post card to notify each member of each meeting the cost would be approximately $120.00 per year. It must be remembered that our monthly paper is being mailed monthly to all who have ever been members of the Post organization, which greatly increases the cost, due to the fact that no income is being received from unpaid members.

The services of Christian Melbert, as corporal of our firing squad are very commendable, worthy of special mention in this report and worthy of your consideration.

The services of our treasurer, James F. Loughran, are also very worthy of special mention. In his work, Mr. Loughran, finds it necessary to devote considerable of his valuable time in accepting from me the dues of members and other receipts, entering the payments in his journal and then prepares the reports for County, State and National Headquarters. With reference to payment of bills against the Post, your treasurer is very exact and extremely economical of the money he holds for you.

Also permit me to draw to your attention the names of Miss Helen Westbrook, Miss Mary M. Haldane and Mrs. Frances J. Hinrichson, true and loyal workers for the ex-service soldiers in Ulster County. These ladies, though not eligible to membership in the Women's Auxiliary, are constant workers in your behalf and they have endeared this Post of a great responsibility.

Now, you gentlemen are aware of the activities of your Post during the past year, but remember the self same ground remains to be covered in the year to come. Let me impress upon you that membership is the first and essential part. Without members we can do do but little and with a large membership our work is easier.

Colonel Binshah Ghadiali, the noted Parsee psychologist, has issued a warning that women who ape men will lose their equilibrium and take on male characteristics, even to growing beards. From Paris comes the startling news that French doctors are able to prove by statistics that alcohol and cigarettes cause an abnormal growth of hair on the faces of those who indulge to excess.

John A. Stewart, chairman of the trustees of the United States Trust Company, who was ninety-nine years old a few days ago, is still strong enough to attend to his many business duties. Despite his years, the "Grand Old Man of Wall Street" suffers no hardships in "carrying on." A slight deafness is his only apparent infirmity. He attributes his longevity and excellent physical condition to abstinence from tobacco. Stewart is Columbia's oldest alumnus. He is also the oldest trustee of Princeton University, having been a member of the board since 1868. He knew Woodrow Wilson when the latter was a student in the class of 1879.

BISHOP ANDERSON'S SERMON

At Asbury Park Was Heard by Several From Kingston.

The Asbury Park News of August 22 devotes considerable space to the printing of digests of two sermons preached by Bishop Anderson, a former pastor of the St. James M. E. Church this city, at Ocean Grove, N. J., on Sunday, August 21, the sermons being heard by a number from Kingston who met Bishop Anderson while at Ocean Grove. In its introductory the News says: "Bishop William F. Anderson of Cincinnati, one of the most distinguished members of the board of bishops of the Methodist Church and probably the most beloved by Ocean Grove audiences, to whom he has become a vital part of the summer programs, preached to two huge audiences in the Ocean Grove Auditorium yesterday, aggregating in all probability 15,000 people. The distinguished associate of the nation's first citizen, President Harding, and of its wizard inventor, Thomas A. Edison, took for his morning text from Psalms 46:1, 'God is our refuge and strength, a very present help in trouble.'

Dr. Anderson stated that "God is the most practical helper in the universe," and stated that he was unafraid of atheism as a philosophy, but that he was afraid of the kind of atheism which permitted the audience to glibly repeat the Apostles' Creed earlier in the service and then go out and live the next days as though there were no God. "God is and He is the reward of them that diligently seek Him and He is here now to help us in every time of need." In illustrating his point that every man must work out his own salvation he referred to the greatness of the late Theodore Roosevelt, who, because he understood the relation of struggle to fight, voluntarily took upon himself the necessity of struggle. The world today insists that Christianity now shall walk the streets six days a week, going to business in everyday clothes and that it shall sit down with world leaders and diplomats and say, 'Thus saith the Lord.'"

In closing Bishop Anderson told of a friend who had visited President Harding the day before he left Ohio for the White House and when the first citizen of the land asked his friend to talk to God daily for him by name. "The president added at that time," said the bishop, "that the fundamental trouble with the United States is that they have gotten away from Almighy God, and," he added, "if it please Him, I should like to be the instrument to win the people back to God." God is the only basis for the hope of a better day, concluded the speaker.

Bishop Anderson's theme in the evening was "He saved others; himself He cannot save," preaching to another large audience. The Asbusy News says that Bishop Anderson had scarcely completed a brief prayer at the close of the evening discourse before a great many people began leaving the auditorium. He arose and requested that the meeting be dismissed as though it were the service of God rather than the dispersal of a mob. The majority acceded to his request but a few determined ones gained the entrance.

Co., an Ellenville boy, who went out in his young manhood and has made good in such way and measure as few men attain to. He loves old Ellenville and old friends. In his devotion to both he has spent hours during the past week in visiting old timers and had cheering words for all whom he has met. Oh that our village "sons and graduates" more generally "stood by" and kept up their interest as this loved man has done.

COTTEKILL.

Cottekill, Aug. 29.—The Willing Workers of the Methodist Episcopal Church of this place wish to extend their sincere thanks to their many kind friends of Kingston and vicinity also to the many friends of the surrounding villages who so kindly assisted in making their annual chicken supper such a success and especially to Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Cronan of the publicity committee, and to their many kind friends from our sister church who so kindly assisted not only by their presence but by word and deed as well. The net proceeds exceeded one hundred dollars and the tables cleared at 10:30 p. m. Standard time. Thanking the many travellers returning to their homes from the Ulster County Fair at Ellenville who came and took supper with us. Come again neighbors, we will do you good, also to our city visitors from the several boarding houses hereabout. Watch out for the date of our annual autumn party which will be announced at a later date through the columns of this valuable paper.

Mrs. Jacob Delamater of this place is reported seriously ill, and under the care of Dr. Shermon of Stone Ridge.

Will the person who removed the red hammock from the porch of J. E. Nichols a few evenings ago be so kind as to return the same as Mr. Nichols's family have need of that this season of the year.

The excursion of the M. E. Sunday school of this place to Kingston Point Park on Thursday August 18 proved to be a very successful outing to all who participated, although the number who availed themselves of the opportunity was not as large as expected. Especially of children, as some parents did not wish their little ones to attend being adjoining the river, although the school had provided sufficient and trustworthy caretakers to look after the interest of all the small pupils intrusted in their care.

Several people from this place are intending to attend the Farm and Home Bureau picnic at Forsyth Park on August 31st.

Henry Keator and J. H. Locke were in Rosendale on Friday and Mr. Locke purchased a building there.

The boarders or city cousins are fast returning to their city homes. Each year finds more and more at this place, as the beauty of the foothills of the Shawangunk and Catskill mountains are more fully discovered and therefore more apppreciated. Also their health giving ozone giving strength and vigor to limb and roses to the cheek. Removing the languid, tired feeling, quieting and invigorating, what medicine fails to do, and more and new houses are being opened each year to receive and accommodate the city cousins. With the very best of fresh garden vegetables, spring chicken, milk and eggs, with fine railroad facilities, telegraph and telephone stations, schools, churches, groceries and ice cream parlors, photograph parlors, private laundries, etc., the village furnishes nearly all the accommodations found in much larger places.

WAR PRICES IN PEACE.

The unbending attitude of labor in the matter of holding out for war prices at a time when nearly six million persons are unemployed is matched, or more than matched, by the attitude of the great majority of hotels and restaurants. A return to pre-war prices is announced by several concerns, but we read of only one hotel, a beach front establishment in Atlantic City, that has done the like. Other hotels have not only hastened to announce that such action is impossible in their case but declare that the action of the Atlantic City house is merely a shrewd advertising dodge. Some of them even go so far as to assert that food has never produced a profit. In response to this remarkable assertion the Philadelphia Record points to the current report that a restaurant of its city has just declared a dividend of 60 per cent, and cites as an instance of particular profit a bill of fare listing an order of honey-dew melon at 80 cents, "no more than a quarter slice of the whole melon which may be bought in the retail markets now for about 30 cents."

Unquestionably there is something wrong, and inevitably there is going to be a modification of war prices all along the line. The public has been milked to the limit and is no longer of a temper favorable to the designs of those who would like to make it the goat permanently. Caterers to a self-conscious "high-brow" trade priding itself on the amount of money it spends may continue excessive charges, but the rank and file of purveyors will have to come down. What is called a consumers' strike has accomplished something already and will accomplish more.

ARE WOMEN TALLER AND WHY?

It is announced from Paris that "bearded women are on the increase" and the blame for this appalling development is laid at the door of cigarettes and alcohol. The obvious objection to this explanation is that alcohol is as old as time and that men grew beards ages before tobacco was discovered among the American Indians, a people with abundant coarse growth on their heads but with little or no hair on their faces. We have too many explanations that fail to explain. For example, a prominent physical training expert, announcing that American women have added an inch and a half to their average height in 40 years, attributes this to athletics. It is quite possible to believe that the average college girl has been made harder and healthier physically by tennis and other outdoor sports, but it is not so easy to believe that the "average height" of American women has been increased to the extent stated by athletics because the average American woman takes no part in athletics, unless the gentle jolting she receives on the seat of a speeding automobile may be so described.

The average American woman gets out into the open air more than formerly, perhaps, and owing to servant scarcity and high wages she has more physical exercise through enforced association with the broom, the cook-pot and the wash-tub, but with athletics she has hardly even a distant acquaintance. Certainly athletics alone have not made our women an inch and a half taller in 40 years—if that much taller they really are—except perhaps in the case of the relatively few.

With all hands working to reduce the cost of living there is a chance that there will be an appreciable reduction. The people themselves have something to say about prices. If they only would stop to think a minute, but many of them don't. Now it would appear as if they were giving prices some consideration, and the more consideration they give the quicker prices will come down. Just doing without things you do not require will put a crimp in the prices of those things and eventually put them within reach. It may be charged to the few, but the people nevertheless have some regulatory effect on prices just the same.

Autumn is about here and the melancholy days will soon be ours to greet. While the so-called melancholy days may usher us up some they have nothing on the gray November morns, particularly if the coal bin and other winter responsibilities are pressing for attention. But whether it is Spring, with hope abundant, the good old Summer time, Autumn, or Winter, the philosopher takes things as they come, finding some pleasure all along the route.

2. Please tell me where butterflies go when it rains or is damp?
3. How can I get rid of slugs that are eating my vegetable garden?

Answers in Tomorrow's Nature Notes

Answers To Previous Questions.

1. Will mistletoe hurt a tree it grows on?

Yes, if it gets a good foothold it will penetrate the tree at more than one point and constantly steal some of the tree's sap. If discovered on a branch, merely plucking it off will not eradicate it, since the root will be embedded within the wood. The only safe way is to cut off the branch, thus preventing the mistletoe root from sending up new shoots.

2. Is there any truth in the fable of the pelican feeding its young with its own blood?

No, but the fable is founded on an incorrect observation of a real fact. Tiny birds are fed on predigested food from the parents' crops. Some birds put their beaks into the throat of the young, and pump the soft food down. Others as pelicans and cormorants, allow the young bird to put its beak into the throat of the parent, and feed this way.

3. Do animals migrate like birds?

Only a few do. Seals, which are mammals, migrate presumably great distances with regularity. Walruses move north in summer. The American bison in its wild state had the habit of wandering twice a year from Canada to Mexico, obviously to take advantage of pasture at different seasons. Norway lemmings migrate but irregularly, seeming to make rushes into new territory when over-population forces a move.

AT THE THEATERS.

Vaudeville at Opera House—Norma Talmadge at Keeney's.

Richey W. Craig's musical revue with eight exceptionally good vaudeville numbers is the attraction at the Opera House again tonight and the balance of the week excepting Friday, with an entire new change of show Wednesday. The company opened last night and delighted hundreds and will no doubt attract capacity audiences at every performance. The photoplay is Owen Moore in "A Divorce of Convenience," a most delightful photoplay with a human touch of interest that appeals to everyone.

Norma Talmadge in "The Branded Woman" at Keeney's yesterday excited no end of comment from all who were fortunate enough to see her. The story is adapted from the stage play "Branded," by Oliver D. Baily. Buster Keaton, the screen's newest comedy sensation in "The Scarecrow," is so funny that it would make even a cat laugh. Wednesday Keeney's will offer Bebe Daniels in "Ducks and Drakes," the naughty, naughty story of a recklessly pretty flirt.

Eileen Percy in "The Maid of the West," at the Auditorium, a stirring story of the great cow country where a pretty little cowgirl starts things humming in the east. The action is swift and thrilling with a story that grips and entertains. Wednesday Eileen Sedgewick in "The Diamond Queen."

Nearly every American reads with enjoyment each day of the doings of Jiggs and his family as pictured in the cartoons of George McManus in his "Bringing Up Father." This delightful comedy will be seen at the Kingston Opera House on Friday night. This season's offering is called "Bringing Up Father in Wall Street." Fully twenty catchy song hits and lilting musical numbers punctuate the offering.

ON-A-JOB, OFF-A-JOB JIM!

Being a Story
Of how Jim got on a job and why he got off it again.

At the dance, Jim picked up news of a county fair to be held at a town twenty miles away. He also learned that Ezra Whiting was planning to exhibit his freak animals there. "If I can get a job with him," thought Jim, "I'll be twenty miles nearer home."

He inquired where Ezra lived and found the farm which was in darkness. Everyone had gone to bed, but he managed to wake up Mrs. Whiting who called from the window to inquire his business and rrefused to wake up Ezra to discuss his plans.

"I know as how he leaves at 4 a. m. and if you've got anything to say to him, say it then."

Jim returned to the Billings home, bade his employer farewell, and laid on the couch for a few hours of sleep. He reached Ezra's place just as the man was cranking his truck motor, and assailed him.

"Can't you use me at the fair grounds?"

"What can you do? Know anything about animals?"

"Not much."

"Then what good are you?"

"My turn to question now. What are you going to do with your animals?"

"Show 'em off, of course."

"How are you going to get the people into your tent to see them?"

"Well, say, won't they come in when they read the signs telling them about the three-legged hen, the neckless rooster, the pig with a straight tail? Shucks! In this day of education people has learned to use their eyes."

"But see here, Mr. Whiting, they want to use their ears, too."

"Ears or eyes, it's nothing to me when I've got to go twenty miles and set up my tent before breakfast."

Jim jumped up on the seat beside Ezra. "Keep on going. I can talk just as well when moving. No, sir, the best way to get a crowd in to see your freaks is by talking to them. You need a barker."

"Humph! Do you call yourself one?"

"Don't I sound like one?"

"You do that. If you can talk me into hiring you, you can talk the guys into entering the tent. You're on, bub."

During the day, Jim drew in many wandering souls who would not have been attracted to the tent save for his witty "barking." He was enjoying himself, too, and regretting that his job was nearing an end, since he must change every two days in order to inherit his uncle's money, when a sheriff arrived at the tent.

"Where's the owner of this joint?"

"Over yonder." Jim was ignorant of Ezra's whereabouts. In fact, he suddenly realized that he had not seen him for some time.

"Order for his arrest." The sheriff marched into the tent, and approached the freaks. He pulled out the third leg from the hen, and untied a firm yet stiff wire from the pig's abbreviated tail. "Cruelty to animals. He's got them all touched up in one way and another. What you got to do with this show?" to Jim.

"I'm only the barker."

"Well, you take my advice and hark out before you lose your chance."

Late that afternoon Jim took to the rails in the direction of home. He hadn't found Ezra nor his two days' pay either. "But I'm twenty miles nearer the city, and two days nearer the end of this job of getting on and off a job, and that's something."

Personal Charm.

Unselfishness is one of the keys to personal charm, which means good manners. The woman who would be a successful woman, a woman of charm, must be an unselfish woman. She must be unselfish in her own interests. She must repress natural instincts to be bad-tempered when she is tired, to retort sharply when contradicted on her own particular subjects. She must listen when she wants to talk, and she must never for one moment be off her guard in the world.—Exchange.

NEW SUITS, COATS AND DRESSES ARE ARRIVING DAILY

Fashionable women—women who are known as good dressers—have been in every day inspecting the new arrivals—and buying them.

These women have a reputation for smartness, and we've discovered one of their secrets.

They ALWAYS buy their costumes early in the season when their newness is noticeable. And they always get a full season's wear from them. A sort of double advantage, you see.

They know that authentic styles are at this store early, and do not hesitate. You are invited to look over our new-season models, and to ask our assistance in choosing.

SPARKS'S CIRCUS HERE THURSDAY

Sparks's big three ring circus will be in Kingston on Thursday, and will show both afternoon and evening on the Stephan street grounds, just off of Foxhall avenue. The circus comes here from Amsterdam and is said to be one of the best on the road. There will be the usual circus parade in the morning that day. This is the only circus that will show in Kingston this season and undoubtedly it will draw a record attendance. From Kingston it goes to Newburgh where it will show on Friday.

How to Make the Most Delicious Peach Jam You Ever Tasted

New Certo Process Never Fails

Actually Preserves All the Flavor and Color of Ripe Peaches, Requires but One Minute's Boiling, and Makes Two-thirds More Jam From Same Amount of Fruit.

Home grown peaches are now plentiful at a low price, sugar is cheap, and housewives are putting up peach jam as never before. Best of all, the new Certo Process has revolutionized the making of peach jam, because, unlike the old method, it uses ripe peaches and actually preserves real peach flavor. The taste of peach jam made with Certo is absolutely different from any peach jam made by the old method, because its flavor is practically the same as fresh peaches.

With the Certo Process full-ripe peaches are used—not unripe peaches so necessary by the old method. The Certo Process retains all the rich flavor of this ripe fruit, because it requires only one minute's boiling—not the 30 or more minutes required by the old method, which destroyed the flavor and made it difficult to distinguish as peach. With Certo the result is a far superior fruity flavor and two-thirds more jam from the same amount of fruit, because no juice is boiled away. It also banishes all guesswork or worry, as perfect results are certain.

The Certo Process for making peach jam is very simple: Crush ripe peaches or slice very fine; measure 4 level cups (2 lbs.) of crushed fruit into large preserving kettle. Then add 6½ heaping cups (3¼ lbs.) of sugar and mix well. Bring to a vigorous boil, stirring well all the time and boil hard for one minute. Remove from fire and add one scant cup (one bottle) of Certo while stirring. Let stand one minute, skim and pour into glasses. Makes 3½ pints or 11 half-pound glasses of jam.

Certo is a pure fruit product—contains no gelatine or preservative. It positively saves time, fruit, flavor of ripe fruit and guesswork. Certo makes all kinds of jams and jellies with fresh or canned fruit, some you have never made before. It is highly endorsed by all cooking experts who have used it. Every woman who tries Certo recommends it to her friends and says she'll never be without it. No more whole mornings spent over a hot stove to make a few glasses of jam or jelly. No more wasted batches of fruit and sugar. And Certo jams and jellies keep as well as any ever made. Get a bottle of Certo and a recipe book from your grocer or druggist at once. For extra free copies of the Certo Book of Recipes, write to Pectin Sales Co., Inc., 360 East Avenue, Rochester, N. Y.

Start the new—the sure, quick, economical way of making jams and jellies. You'll never return to the old "hit or miss" method. But you will learn how to make fresh jams and jellies in small batches during the winter—from dried or canned fruit, winter fruits or bottled juices.

If your grocer or druggist does not have Certo, please telephone Miss Jones at 1875 to learn where you can obtain it.

CERTO Process	Old Method
1 minute's boiling of 2 pounds of fruit with 3 pounds of sugar plus 4 ounces of CERTO makes 5 pounds of Jam	15 minutes' boiling at least on a hot Stove of 2 pounds of Fruit with 2 pounds of Sugar makes only 3 pounds of Jam

Books and Friends.

One cannot celebrate books sufficiently. After saying his best, still something better remains to be spoken in their praise. As with friends, one finds new beauties at every interview, and would stay long in the presence of those choice companions. As with friends, he may dispense with a wide acquaintance. Few and choice. The richest minds need not large libraries. That is a good book which is opened with expectation and closed with profit.—A. Bronson Alcott.

FIGHT PICTURES WILL SHOW HERE

Motion Pictures of Famous Dempsey-Carpentier Championship Will Be Exhibited Three Days.

For three days beginning Labor Day, the Dempsey-Carpentier world's championship boxing contest pictures will be shown at the Kingston Opera House. Kingston is one of the first towns outside New York city to show the pictures of the greatest boxing bout of the times. There will be five shows daily, two in the afternoon at 2:30 and 3:30 and three in the evening at 7:30 8:30 and 9:30.

These are the authentic Tex Rickard ringside motion pictures taken at Jersey City on July 2, by a battery of more than twenty cameras of various kinds and show exactly what the great event was like, from the building at Boyle's Thirty Acres of the great arena seating 90,000 spectators, up to the final blow that ended the struggle in the famous fourth round.

One of the features of the picture is the introduction of "slow motion" photography, enabling the audience to see every movement of the two combatants slowed down to one-eighth normal speed. This innovation affords an opportunity to study the tactics of Dempsey and Carpentier, whose struggle for supremacy created world wide comment.

RAYMOND SMITH BLOCKED HOGUE

Telegraphed Governor Miller And Prepared Memorandum For O'Malley Who Had Deciding Vote.

According to testimony which he gave before Commissioner of Accounts David Hirschfield in New York city on Monday, Raymond Smith, formerly of this city, telegraphed to Governor Miller in May suggesting that the governor request postponement by the Council of Farms and Markets in selecting George E. Hogue to head the reorganization of that department until he, Smith, could submit facts and evidence of Hogue's unfitness as developed in governmental and state investigations. At the time, said Smith, he knew that Governor Miller and others had determined to place Hogue at the head of the reorganized department.

The following day, according to Raymond Smith, Ward Smith, secretary to the governor, telephoned him saying he knew nothing about the report on Hogue which had been made by George Gordon Battle, or evidence of the facts against Hogue. Raymond Smith said he replied to Secretary Ward Smith: "Is it possible that Governor Miller has concealed this report and you have not seen it?" Raymond Smith added in his testimony before Commissioner Hirschfield: "He must have found out who I was because in his statement he wanted to know if Hogue was not suitable to the Borden Milk Company and McCann. He must have known who I was and my previous close association with The Globe."

Of the eleven members of the State Council of Farms and Markets, said Smith, ten were appointed by the governor and all were Republicans, while Commissioner O'Malley of New York, who is under investigation by the Meyer legislative committee, was ex-officio member of the council as commissioner of public markets of New York city. Five of the Republicans were opposed to the selection of Mr. Hogue, he said, leaving the deciding vote with Commissioner O'Malley, who told him that efforts had been made to influence his vote. Meanwhile Smith had prepared a memorandum on Hogue for Commissioner O'Malley's use.

O'Malley's refusal to vote for Hogue, said Smith, led to Governor Miller calling O'Malley "the Master Mind."

Streets With Duplicate Names.

London's duplication of its street names is notorious. A casual glance at the directory reveals no fewer than ten Charles streets and half a dozen Charlottes. Park street also appears half a dozen times, and Hill street only one less. Even our best known thoroughfares have their duplicates, for you will find an Oxford street in Whitechapel and a Regent street in Shoreditch.—London Chronicle.

Grammatical Controversy.

The controversy as to the propriety using "It is me" instead of "It is I" several centuries old. It arose from e fact that from the earliest times ere was in use in the languages of rope two sounds that served to indi- te the person speaking. In English ey appear as "I" and "me," the old- form of "I" being "Ic." In the rnacular of England both forms of e phrase are used, but "It is me" ds greater favor, if one may take erature as indicating preference. otwithstanding the fact, the gram- rians have arrayed themselves ainst it. Considered etymological- , the correct form is "It am I," and is is the way in which the phrase as used by Chaucer in "The Knightes le" lines 1463 and 1738.—Literary gest.

Indians' Use of Oysters.

Long before the advent of the white ttlers on the shores of America the dian tribes living near the Atlantic ast subsisted to a large extent on sters. In fact, many of the In- ns of that period not only made mmendable use of oysters at meal e, but they actually used the shells coin of the realm. These commer- lly inclined redskins of by-gone cen- ries converted their oysters into a dium of exchange by drying and oking them. They would then string em on twigs and carry them to the bes living in the valleys between the untains considerable distances from e coast, where they would be used purchasing buffalo meat and hides d various other articles that were obtainable along the coast.

LOCAL DEATH RECORD.

Recent Deaths and Funerals of Persons In This Vicinity.

Rose D. Shutts, infant daughter of W. L. Shutts and Gertrude Doyo Shutts, died at the home of her par- ents, No. 11 Ponckhockie street, at an early hour this morning. Funeral services will be held at the family home Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock. Interment at Westkill, N. Y., on Thursday morning.

John A Klothe died Sunday at his home at Newark, N. J., after a lin- gering illness. He formerly resided at Port Jervis and was a member of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen and of Val- entine Lodge, Knights and Ladies of Honor of Port Jervis. He is surviv- ed by his wife; one brother, Lewis W. Klothe of Kingston, and several nephews and nieces. The funeral will take place at Newark Wednes- day evening and interment will be at Port Jervis on Thursday.

The funeral of Edward J. Hovers, the 15-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hovers, was held from his home, No. 21 German street, this morning at 9 o'clock and at 9:30 from St. Peter's Church, where a re- quiem Mass was offered for the re- pose of his soul by the Rev. J. P. Neumann. The services were large- ly attended and the children of St. Peter's school attended the services in a body. Father Ostermann accom- panied the remains to St. Peter's cemetery where the committal ser- vices were held.

Ira Coutant of No. 82 Henry street died suddenly on Monday. The fun- eral arrangements will be announced later. Mr. Coutant was a son of the late George S. Coutant, who was for many years prominently identified with the cement business in the town of Rosendale. The deceased was a native of that town and was con- nected with the cement business in his early years. Later he removed to Kingston and engaged in the grocery business on Broadway, near the West Shore Railroad, for several years, when he became identified with the insurance business. More recently Mr. Coutant had been em- ployed as an accountant with a local concern. He is survived by his wife.

James B. Cameron died this morn- ing at his home, 571 Broadway. The funeral will be held Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock with interment in Wilt- wyck cemetery. Mr. Cameron is sur- vived by his wife, two brothers, Samuel Cameron of Enterprise, Can- ada and Daniel Cameron of Akron, Ohio, and one sister, Mrs. Alexander Bush. He was a member of Ron- dout Lodge, No. 343, F. & A. M., Mt. Horeb Chapter, Rondout Com- mandery Knights Templar, Cyprus Temple, Albany, the Kingston Shrin- ers' Association, Kingston Lodge, No. 155, O. E. S., Aretas Lodge, I. O. O. F., Atharhacton Lodge of Rebek- ahs, No. 257; Wawarsing Tribe, I. O. R. M., Haymakers No. 323, and Pratt Post. In the Civil War he served with the 25th Regiment in the regu- lar army, and was an honorary mem- ber of Kingston Hook and Ladder Company. He belonged to St. John's Church.

Hurley, Aug. 30.—Mrs. John L. Elmendorf was buried on Sunday afternoon from the house which had been her home for so many years. As might be easily thought, a large number of relatives and friends, some from considerable distance away, met to pay their last memories of friendship to the one they had known and esteemed for many years. The service was held by the Rev. Mr. French of our village church; it was simple and therefore impres- sively carried out. The interment was in Hurley cemetery by her hus- band, who died in 1915. With the death of Mrs. Elmendorf, Hurley loses another of its rapidly diminish- ing number of those who have been so essentially a part of the village. Nearly all her lifetime had been spent here and during all these years, as Aunt Eliza, she was known and esteemed by a large number of friends and, as the years saw the friends and relatives of early days growing less, this friendship and love grew all the closer and keener. She was possessed of a ready with and keen apprehension and it was a pleasure to meet and talk with her, as has been the good fortune of the writer for years. Mrs. Elmen- dorf had always been a most active woman, endowed with great vitality and even in these later days of modern contrivances, she clung still to the ways of her youth and mani- fested a deep interest in all that pertained to farm life of which her own life had been such an integral part. Only the last year or two, on account of bodily infirmities, did she relinquish her hold upon such affairs. Mrs. Wynese, the youngest member of the family, was with her mother during these years, minister- ing every comfort to her mother's welfare. Many of us will miss a dear friend and adviser.

Fundamental Business Principles.

From a purely cold-blooded business point of view, honesty is the best pol- icy. To treat the other man as you would have him treat you is an equal- ly fundamental business principle. This does not mean that you should surrender your rights or neglect to avail yourself of your opportunities. It simply means that in the game of business, the same rules of sportsman- ship should prevail as in a boxing bout, in a match of golf, or in a football game.—John D. Rockefeller, Jr.

Chicago Grain Market.

By Telegraph to The Freeman

Chicago, Aug. 30.—The tone of the wheat market was weak with the selling side chiefly favored because of the weakness in coarse grains. Important outside buying was lack- ing.

Wheat closed 1¼ to 1½ lower; corn ⅜ to ⅞ lower; oats ⅛ to ½ lower.

Closing Prices.

Corn—Sept., 53¼ @ 53⅛; May, 56⅜.

Oats—Sept., 33⅞ @ 33⅝; Dec., 37¼ @ 37⅝; May, 41⅝.

Superstitions Concerning the Kiss.

The kiss is a part of numberless su- perstitions. The Germans believe a charm against lightning is effected by making three crosses before you and kissing the ground. The French kiss the cards before the game begins to bring luck in gambling. Pliny seri- ously advised a man suffering with toothache to kiss a mule to stop the pain. The Danes believe bad luck is turned away if you kiss the piece of bread you drop on the floor. They also believe it bad luck if the first per- son you meet in the morning is an old woman; nevertheless you can ward off the consequences by giving her a kiss.

Our Composite Face.

There is great truth in the observa- tions of James Gibbons Huneker upon his return to New York. He says: "The mother crowd marches on hard- lean heels. Possibly a green face might make it pause, though we doubt it; your Baudelaire with his hair dyed green would not have a chance of rec- ognition. Just one more trait. Pretty nationality except American traverse our streets. Are there any New York- ers in town? The Slavic, Hebraic and Italian types predominate where once Irish, German and American ruled. The Japanese and Chinese are bound to come, and then what a composite face will be ours.

The Butterfly.

Ah, the butterfly! Even when chased, it never has the air of being in a hurry.—"Japanese Lyrics."

GIRLS OF WHOM TO BEWARE

Japanese "Widowed Physician" Hands Out Some Words of Caution to Susceptible Male Sex.

In "What to Tell Our Grown-Up Sons About Women," a pamphleteer who calls himself "The Widowed Phy- sician," has made a list of the things he dislikes in girls. He admits that he deals with "objectionable characteris- tics," but disarms the criticism that he fails to indicate positive virtues by saying that "the nice youth needs no qualities of the opposite sex." "The Widowed Physician" sums up his ideas in a few brief warnings, as fol- lows, the Japan Advertiser states:

Beware of the girls who manicure their nails to the shape of a claw. I do not know why, but beware of them.

Beware of girls who prefer to dress in purple or scarlet colors.

Beware of girls who are heavily scented.

Beware of the girl who is too obvi- ously modest and demure. She doth protest too much.

Beware of the girl with low, sloping forehead and dry, straight, coarse, jute-like hair. Any experienced mag- istrate will tell you that this type of woman frequently summons her hus- band for assault and battery.

Beware of the intensely religious girl. She does not mean to be dan- gerous, but the fact that she is so devotional indicates that she pos- sesses an unbalanced temperament.

Beware of the girl who sidles up to you, or lays hands on you; or comes so close to you as to lead you readily to lay hands on her.

Specially beware of "married wom- en" of reputed responsibility, whom you have formerly had every reason to believe in and respect, when these same women, by arts obvious or guard- ed, show you that they would not ob- ject to your being more intimate with them than you know in your own con- science you ought to be.

Beware of the mothers who are anx- ious as to the future of their daugh- ters.

Beware of the girl who drinks wines freely; she will make a poor wife and a worse mother.

Beware of the girl who dresses in a slovenly, artistic manner.

The "Widowed Physician" recom- mends two types—the homely and the "pert, modern, self-sufficient learned young woman." He adds, "She would sharpen your wits every time."

This picture shows the Quest, commanded by Sir Ernest Schackleton, which left Southampton, England, last week, as she was leaving the Brit- ish port. The Quest was flying the white ensign from the stern, the Royal Yacht Squadron Pennant from the mainsail and the Union Jack, which was presented by the King of England, on the foremast. Among the equipment being taken on the trip is a specially designed air- plane for use in the ice-bound region about the South Pole.

Here is shown a motor car which can be driven either on land or on sea. This new invention caused much comment at the Sidmouth Regatta, in England. The car is here shown traveling along the surface of the water under its own power.

The New Santa Barbara Light.

Many persons are still fond of the oil lamp to read by at home. In the house it still gives the amount of brilliancy desired. But lighting engi- neers claim superiority for the elec- tric light in a fog.

An electric light of 1,000,000 candle- power is to be installed in the Santa Barbara lighthouse. The light itself is not 1,000,000 candle-power, but the light is intensified by the use of re- fractors ingeniously cut and placed. In clear weather the light will not be visible any further than the old oil lamp, which shines 20 miles. The light is 178 feet above sea level and 20 miles is the horizon limit. But in foggy weather the new light will be visible two or three miles in place of one mile, the limit of the oil lamp's beams.

Rocky Road to Knowledge.

A man who was acting queerly about the rooms of the local library last week excited much comment. He was in search of some book of ref- erence but refused to accept the aid of the librarian in his search. After he had made a second or third visit and gone it was learned he was a member of a debating society and had been chosen to uphold the affirmative on the question: "Could you and would you order the courtmartial of a soldier who saved the lives of the members of his company by shooting the company cook?"—Pottsville (Pa.) Journal.

WILLITES DEFEAT SILK MILLS 3-2

Second Game They Have Won This Season Was Badly Needed By League Leaders—Bunched Hits Off Wheaton Sewed Up Game In First Inning.

The Willites turned the surprise of the season last night at the Athletic Field by defeating the League leading Silk Mills by a score of 3-2. Manager Conklin deemed it wise to safe Hoffman for tonight's championship game against the U. & D., started the game with Wheaton on the mind. What ensued was the unexpectedness in baseball. Wheaton, a pitcher of no mean calibre, after putting out the first two men, was pummeled by Shultis for a single, Bruck next with a two bagger, Parslow for two bags and Burho last with a mighty smash to center for three bags. It was a jeopardizing position for a lead of three runs in a 4 or 5 inning game is considerable. After some mouth to ear conferences between Silk Mill players it was decided to put Hoffman in for the remaining innings even though the onerous duty of pitching again in tonight's contest will undoubtedly fall upon him. Hoffman went to work and shut them out completely without hits or runs for the remaining innings but strongly supported by Gaddis on second who picked up two swift grounders in succession in the 3rd.

The lead was too much. Thomas of the Silk Mills hit a double in the second and scored on Gaddis's sacrifice. In the third Maines scored another making two all told. Silk Mills had a chance to tie up in the fourth when Slawson hit a long one to center for three bases but was called out by Umpire Jordan for not touching second base on the circuit. The Silk Mills took last cracks in the first of the fifth. Gaddis doubled and put out at first, Wheaton singled and made second. F. Massee hit a long high fly to center which nobody thought Parslow would get but he did with one of the nicest catches of the season and doubled to second putting out Wheaton who was a long way off base. The score:

WETMORE WILL PROTEST.

Says Colonials Weren't Fair—Regulars Won Sunday.

After taking a beating by the score of 5 to 2 from Kingston Colonials on Saturday at Kingston in a Hudson valley league game which he will protest, claiming Kingston used unfair methods in winning the game, using rosin on the ball, Fred G. Wetmore and his Poughkeepsie Regulas came right back and won a hard fought game at Riverview field, Poughkeepsie, from Dick Coogan's Paterson Club by the score of 9 to 8 Sunday. It was a slugging battle, with three home runs being knocked by the Jersey skeeters.

It was a big day for home runs and heavy hitting, three home runs and one three bagger were batted against the Poughkeepsie pitchers by the scrappy clan from Paterson.

WALSH PITCHES HERE TOMORROW

Former Premier Twirler of American League, Backed by Stellar Oneonta Outfit, Will Try and Stop Colonials' Winning Streak.

When the crack Oneonta team takes the field against the Colonials at the Athletic Field tomorrow afternoon, Ed Walsh himself will be on the mound for the visitors. Word to the effect has been received by the Colonial management and Kingston fans will witness the spectacle of one of the greatest hurlers of his day—a pitcher whose name is linked with that of Mathewson, Johnson and Alexander—endeavoring to put an end to the great winning streak of the local team.

The Oneonta Club is one of the four this season to score a victory over the Colonials, and Walsh is determined to show Kingston fans that the victory was no fluke. The Colonials, on the other hand, will fight to the unmost to even up matters and to keep their slate clear.

Manager Walsh has in his line-up some of the best semi-pro players in this vicinity. At short he has Steffin, captain of the Colgate University team, and one of the fastest infielders in collegiate circles. Herman, who covers third base, has been playing in sensational style and the Washington American League team has offered him a contract. Burns, guardian of the initial sack, has broken up many a game with his hitting, and pitchers have a wholesome respect for his ability.

Who will oppose Walsh is not yet known. McAuliffe and Williams both are available and either one may draw the assignment.

Designed For Use In Sewing Schools

The new school pattern incorporates all the revolutionary features of the McCall "Printed" pattern which in itself would make it a pattern to be preferred by the beginner in sewing, but makes simplicity more simple by special features adapted to the problems of the beginner in sewing. BISHOP ANDERSON'S SERMON

At Asbury Park Was Heard by Several From Kingston.

The Asbury Park News of August 22 devotes considerable space to the printing of digests of two sermons preached by Bishop Anderson, a former pastor of the St. James M. E. Church this city, at Ocean Grove, N. J., on Sunday, August 21, the sermons being heard by a number from Kingston who met Bishop Anderson while at Ocean Grove. In its introductory the News says: "Bishop William F. Anderson of Cincinnati, one of the most distinguished members of the board of bishops of the Methodist Church and probably the most beloved by Ocean Grove audiences, to whom he has become a vital part of the summer programs, preached to two huge audiences in the Ocean Grove Auditorium yesterday, aggregating in all probability 15,000 people. The distinguished associate of the nation's first citizen, President Harding, and of its wizard inventor, Thomas A. Edison, took for his morning text from Psalms 46:1, 'God is our refuge and strength, a very present help in trouble.'"

Dr. Anderson stated that "God is the most practical helper in the universe," and stated that he was unafraid of atheism as a philosophy, but that he was afraid of the kind of atheism which permitted the audience to glibly repeat the Apostles' Creed earlier in the service and then go out and live the next days as though there were no God. "God is and He is the reward of them that diligently seek Him and He is here now to help us in every time of need." In illustrating his point that every man must work out his own salvation he referred to the greatness of the late Theodore Roosevelt, who, because he understood the relation of struggle to fight, voluntarily took upon himself the necessity of struggle. The world today insists that Christianity now shall walk the streets six days a week, going to business in everyday clothes and that it shall sit down with world leaders and diplomats and say, "Thus saith the Lord."

In closing Bishop Anderson told of a friend who had visited President Harding the day before he left Ohio for the White House and when the first citizen of the land asked his friend to talk to God daily for him by name. "The president added at that time," said the bishop, "that the fundamental trouble with the United States is that they have gotten away from Almighty God, and," he added, "if it please Him, I should like to be the instrument to win the people back to God." God is the only basis for the hope of a better day, concluded the speaker.

Bishop Anderson's theme in the evening was "He saved others; himself He cannot save," preaching to another large audience. The Asbury News says that Bishop Anderson had scarcely completed a brief prayer at the close of the evening discourse before a great many people began leaving the auditorium. He arose and requested that the meeting be dismissed as though it were the service of God rather than the dispersal of a mob. The majority acceded to his request but a few determined ones gained the entrance.

COTTEKILL.

Cottekill, Aug. 29.—The Willing Workers of the Methodist Episcopal Church of this place wish to extend their sincere thanks to their many kind friends of Kingston and vicinity also to the many friends of the surrounding villages who so kindly assisted in making their annual chicken supper such a success and especially to Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Cronan of the publicity committee, and to their many kind friends from our sister church who so kindly assisted not only by their presence but by word and deed as well. The net proceeds exceeded one hundred dollars and the tables cleared at 10:30 p. m. Standard time. Thanking the many travellers returning to their homes from the Ulster County Fair at Ellenville who came and took supper with us. Come again neighbors, we will do you good, also to our city visitors from the several boarding houses hereabout. Watch out for the date of our annual autumn party which will be announced at a later date through the columns of this valuable paper.

Mrs. Jacob Delamater of this place is reported seriously ill, and under the care of Dr. Shermon of Stone Ridge.

Will the person who removed the red hammock from the porch of J. E. Nichols a few evenings ago be so kind as to return the same as Mr. Nichols's family have need of that this season of the year.

H. W. Locke and son Carlton of Rochester, N. Y. who have been spending a two weeks vacation in Brooklyn and Long Island and a two week's vacation in Castleton, Vt., and a week at this place with Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Locke and doing by auto the Hunter, Catskill, Prattsville, Gilboa villages and inspecting the new water works in course of erection there, also the Ulster county fair at Ellenville, N. Y., left for their home in Rochester on Thursday to make the entire trip in one day.

The excursion of the M. E. Sunday school of this place to Kingston Point Park on Thursday August 18 proved to be a very successful outing to all who participated, although the number who availed themselves of the opportunity was not as large as expected. Especially of children, as some parents did not wish their little ones to attend being adjoining the river, although the school had provided sufficient and trustworthy caretakers to look after the interest of all the small pupils intrusted in their care.

Several people from this place are intending to attend the Farm and Home Bureau picnic at Forsyth Park on August 31st.

Henry Keator and J. H. Locke were in Rosendale on Friday and Mr. Locke purchased a building there.

The boarders or city cousins are fast returning to their city homes. Each year finds more and more at this place, as the beauty of the foothills of the Shawangunk and Catskill mountains are more fully discovered and therefore more appreciated. Also their health giving means giving strength and vigor to limb and form to the check. Removing the languid, tired feeling, quieting and invigorating, what medicine fails to do, and more and new houses are being opened each year to receive and accommodate the city cousins. With the very best of fresh garden vegetables, spring chicken, milk and eggs, with fine railroad facilities, telegraph and telephone stations, schools, churches, groceries and ice cream parlors, photograph parlors, private hospitals, etc., the village furnishes nearly all the accommodations found in much larger places.

Milton Townsend of the board of water supply of Ottawa, N. Y., is spending a short vacation in this his complete recovery.

ESOPUS.

Esopus, Aug. 29.—On Thursday of this week, Sept. 1, the Methodist Sunday school will hold their annual picnic. This year the place chosen is Forsyth Park, Kingston. The school, and all others who will go, will be transported to the park by one of the Lyons busses. All members of the school will have free transportation but all others will be expected to pay their own fare and everyone is cordially invited to join the party. "The more the merrier." Everybody who expects to attend the picnic are requested to meet on the church grounds at 9:30 a. m. (new time), bus will leave at ten o'clock. 4 o'clock in the afternoon the bus will call at the park to return the "picnickers to their homes. Make a special effort to take this day off and help the children enjoy their outing.

Miss Isabelle Smith of New York city was a recent guest of the Misses Winifred and Marguerite House.

Mrs. Joseph Welch of New York city, who recently underwent a most critical operation for cancer at the Lloyd Private Sanitarium, St. Nicholas avenue, New York, has so far recovered as to come to the home of her mother, Mrs. Emory Freer, in this village, where she has been for the past two or three weeks convalescing. How to Make the Most Delicious Peach Jam You Ever Tasted

New Certo Process Never Fails

Actually Preserves All the Flavor and Color of Ripe Peaches, Requires but One Minute's Boiling, and Makes Two-thirds More Jam From Same Amount of Fruit.

Home grown peaches are now plentiful at a low price, sugar is cheap, and housewives are putting up peach jam as never before. Best of all, the new Certo Process has revolutionized the making of peach jam, because, unlike the old method, it uses ripe peaches and actually preserves real peach flavor. The taste of peach jam made with Certo is absolutely different from any peach jam made by the old method, because its flavor is practically the same as fresh peaches.

With the Certo Process full-ripe peaches are used—not unripe peaches so necessary by the old method. The Certo Process retains all the rich flavor of this ripe fruit, because it requires only one minute's boiling—not the 30 or more minutes required by the old method, which destroyed the flavor and made it difficult to distinguish as peach. With Certo the result is a far superior fruity flavor and two-thirds more jam from the same amount of fruit, because no juice is boiled away. It also banishes all guesswork or worry, as perfect results are certain.

The Certo Process for making peach jam is very simple: Crush ripe peaches or slice very fine; measure 4 level cups (2 lbs.) of crushed fruit into large preserving kettle. Then add 6½ heaping cups (3¼ lbs.) of sugar and mix well. Bring to a vigorous boil, stirring well all the time and boil hard for one minute. Remove from fire and add one scant cup (one bottle) of Certo while stirring. Let stand one minute, skim and pour into glasses. Makes 3½ pints or 11 half-pound glasses of jam.

Certo is a pure fruit product—contains no gelatine or preservative. It positively saves time, fruit, flavor of ripe fruit and guesswork. Certo makes all kinds of jams and jellies with fresh or canned fruit, some you have never made before. It is highly endorsed by all cooking experts who have used it. Every woman who tries Certo recommends it to her friends and says she'll never be without it. No more whole mornings spent over a hot stove to make a few glasses of jam or jelly. No more wasted batches of fruit and sugar. And Certo jams and jellies keep as well as any ever made. Get a bottle of Certo and a recipe book from your grocer or druggist at once. For extra free copies of the Certo Book of Recipes, write to Pectin Sales Co., Inc., 360 East Avenue, Rochester, N. Y.

Start the new—the sure, quick, economical way of making jams and jellies. You'll never return to the old "hit or miss" method. But you will learn how to make fresh jams and jellies in small batches during the winter—from dried or canned fruit, winter fruits or bottled juices.

If your grocer or druggist does not have Certo, please telephone Miss Jones at 1875 to learn where you can obtain it.

Books and Friends.

One cannot celebrate books sufficiently. After saying his best, still something better remains to be spoken in their praise. As with friends, one finds new beauties at every interview, and would stay long in the presence of those choice companions. As with friends, he may dispense with a wide acquaintance. Few and choice. The richest minds need not large libraries. That is a good book which is opened with expectation and closed with profit.—A. Bronson Alcott.

FIGHT PICTURES WILL SHOW HERE

Motion Pictures of Famous Dempsey-Carpentier Championship Will Be Exhibited Three Days.

For three days beginning Labor Day, the Dempsey-Carpentier world's championship boxing contest pictures will be shown at the Kingston Opera House. Kingston is one of the first towns outside New York city to show the pictures of the greatest boxing bout of the times. There will be five shows daily, two in the afternoon at 2:30 and 3:30 and three in the evening at 7.30 8:30 and 9:30.

These are the authentic Tex Rickard ringside motion pictures taken at Jersey City on July 2, by a battery of more than twenty cameras of various kinds and show exactly what the great event was like, from the building at Boyle's Thirty Acres of the great arena seating 90,000 spectators, up to the final blow that ended the struggle in the famous fourth round.

One of the features of the picture is the introduction of "slow motion" photography, enabling the audience to see every movement of the two combatants slowed down to one-eighth normal speed. This innovation affords an opportunity to study the tactics of Dempsey and Carpentier, whose struggle for supremacy created world wide comment.

RAYMOND SMITH BLOCKED HOGUE

Telegraphed Governor Miller And Prepared Memorandum For O'Malley Who Had Deciding Vote.

According to testimony which he gave before Commissioner of Accounts David Hirschfield in New York city on Monday, Raymond Smith, formerly of this city, telegraphed to Governor Miller in May suggesting that the governor request postponement by the Council of Farms and Markets in selecting George E. Hogue to head the reorganization of that department until he, Smith, could submit facts and evidence of Hogue's unfitness as developed in governmental and state investigations. At the time, said Smith, he knew that Governor Miller and others had determined to place Hogue at the head of the reorganized department.

The following day, according to Raymond Smith, Ward Smith, secretary to the governor, telephoned him saying he knew nothing about the report on Hogue which had been made by George Gordon Battle, or evidence of the facts against Hogue. Raymond Smith said he replied to Secretary Ward Smith: "Is it possible that Governor Miller has concealed this report and you have not seen it?" Raymond Smith added in his testimony before Commissioner Hirschfield: "He must have found out who I was because in his statement he wanted to know if Hogue was not suitable to the Borden Milk Company and McCann. He must have known who I was and my previous close association with The Globe."

Of the eleven members of the State Council of Farms and Markets, said Smith, ten were appointed by the governor and all were Republicans, while Commissioner O'Malley of New York, who is under investigation by the Meyer legislative committee, was ex-officio member of the council as commissioner of public markets of New York city. Five of the Republicans were opposed to the selection of Mr. Hogue, he said, leaving the deciding vote with Commissioner O'Malley, who told him that efforts had been made to influence his vote. Meanwhile Smith had prepared a memorandum on Hogue for Commissioner O'Malley's use.

O'Malley's refusal to vote for Hogue, said Smith, led to Governor Miller calling O'Malley "the Master Mind."

Streets With Duplicate Names.

London's duplication of its street names is notorious. A casual glance at the directory reveals no fewer than ten Charles streets and half a dozen Charlottes. Park street also appears half a dozen times, and Hill street only one less. Even our best known thoroughfares have their duplicates, for you will find an Oxford street in Whitechapel and a Regent street in Shoreditch.—London Chronicle.

WILLITES DEFEAT SILK MILLS 3-2

Second Game They Have Won This Season Was Badly Needed By League Leaders—Bunched Hits Off Wheaton Sewed Up Game In First Inning.

The Willites turned the surprise of the season last night at the Athletic Field by defeating the League leading Silk Mills by a score of 3-2. Manager Conklin deemed it wise to safe Hoffman for tonight's championship game against the U. & D., started the game with Wheaton on the mind. What ensued was the unexpectedness in baseball. Wheaton, a pitcher of no mean calibre, after putting out the first two men, was pummeled by Shultis for a single, Bruck next with a two bagger, Parslow for two bags and Burhol last with a mighty smash to center for three bags. It was a jeopardizing position for a lead of three runs in a 4 or 5 inning game is considerable. After some mouth to ear conferences between Silk Mill players it was decided to put Hoffman in for the remaining innings even though the onerous duty of pitching again in tonight's contest will undoubtedly fall upon him. Hoffman went to work and shut them out completely without hits or runs for the remaining innings but strongly supported by Gaddis on second who picked up two swift grounders in succession in the 3rd

The lead was too much. Thomas of the Silk Mills hit a double in the second and scored on Gaddis's sacrifice. In the third Maines scored another making two all told. Silk Mills had a chance to tie up in the fourth when Slawson hit a long one to center for three bases but was called out by Umpire Jordan for not touching second base on the circuit. The Silk Mills took last cracks in the first of the fifth. Gaddis doubled and put out at first, Wheaton singled and made second F. Massee hit a long high fly to center which nobody thought Parslow would get but he did with one of the nicest catches of the season and doubled to second putting out Wheaton who was a long way off base. The score:

WETMORE WILL PROTEST.

Says Colonials Weren't Fair—Regulars Won Sunday.

After taking a beating by the score of 5 to 2 from Kingston Colonials on Saturday at Kingston in a Hudson valley league game which he will protest, claiming Kingston used unfair methods in winning the game, using rosin on the ball, Fred G. Wetmore and his Poughkeepsie Regulas came right back and won a hard fought game at Riverview field, Poughkeepsie, from Dick Coogan's Paterson Club by the score of 9 to 3 Sunday. It was a slugging battle, with three home runs being knocked by the Jersey skeeters.

It was a big day for home runs and heavy hitting, three home runs and one three bagger were batted against the Poughkeepsie pitchers by the scrappy clan from Paterson.

WALSH PITCHES HERE TOMORROW

Former Premier Twirler of American League, Backed by Stellar Oneonta Outfit, Will Try and Stop Colonials' Winning Streak.

When the crack Oneonta team takes the field against the Colonials at the Athletic Field tomorrow afternoon, Ed Walsh himself will be on the mound for the visitors. Word to the effect has been received by the Colonial management and Kingston fans will witness the spectacle of one of the greatest hurlers of his day—a pitcher whose name is linked with that of Mathewson, Johnson and Alexander—endeavoring to put an end to the great winning streak of the local team.

The Oneonta Club is one of the four this season to score a victory over the Colonials, and Walsh is determined to show Kingston fans that the victory was no fluke. The Colonials, on the other hand, will fight to the utmost to even up matters and to keep their slate clear.

Manager Walsh has in his line-up some of the best semi-pro players in this vicinity. At short he has Steffin, captain of the Colgate University team, and one of the fastest infielders in collegiate circles. Herman who covers third base, has been playing in sensational style and the Washington American League team has offered him a contract. Burns, guardian of the initial sack, has broken up many a game with his hitting, and pitchers have a wholesome respect for his ability.

Who will oppose Walsh is not yet known. McAuliffe and Williams both are available and either one may draw the assignment.
